ELKIN STAYS IN THE FIGHT TILL THE END

Declares He Will Stick Until the State Convention Decides.

QUAY VISITING PHILADELPHIA

Unconfirmed Rumor Says Don Cameron Is There to Confer With Him.

STRONG EFFORT TO ALTER HIS DECISION

Friends of the State Attorney General Working Hard With Him—The Senator and the Other Leaders Continue Their Policy of Reticence.

ELKIN HIMSELF SETTLES DOUBTS

ALTOONA, PA., April 10.—Attorney General John P. Elkin said tonight to the Associated Press representative in response to an inquiry on the subject:

"I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, and will remain in the fight until the convention decides the contest. The stories of my withdrawal are pure fabrications."

By CHESTER D. POTTER,
Staff Correspondent.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 10.—Senator M. S. Quay arrived here this morning. Since then he has been in constant conference with local Republican leaders. Insurance Commissioner I. W. Durham was one of the first to greet the senator. Mayor Ashbridge, Director of Public Safety Abraham English and ex-Councilman James P. McNichol also called.

Probably the most noteworthy incident of the day was the visit late this afternoon of Commissioner Durham, who was accompanied by Recorder J. O. Brown of Pittsburgh. Mr. Durham refused to throw any light upon the situation. Recorder Brown also declined to talk.

Evening papers say without reserve that Attorney General Elkin will withdraw and that the leaders will agree upon P. C. Knox, Gen. Brooke or J. Donald Cameron for governor.

Strong Pull By Elkin's Friends.

Senator Quay could not be seen. It was evident very early this afternoon that the Stone-Elkin-Elverson forces were making a desperate effort to induce Senator Quay to reconsider his decision and permit the nomination of Mr. Elkin. Those who are in a position to judge are firm in the belief that Quay's ultimatum will stand and that Elkin must get out of the fight.

Commissioner Durham said tonight that Mr. Elkin would be here tomorrow. Quay, he said, would probably remain in Philadelphia several days.

An Altoona dispatch, received here tonight quotes Elkin as saying he will not withdraw and that his name will be presented to the Republican state convention; that he is in the fight until a roll call nominates him or some other candidate.

Cameron's Arrival Rumored.

Col. Quay declined to make any statement. He left the Stratford hotel, where he is staying, at 6 o'clock, and at 10:30 tonight the clerk said he had not returned, but that he would be back.

At midnight it was rumored that ex-Senator Don Cameron was in the city and that Col. Quay and Commissioner Durham were with him. This cannot be verified. No one has seen Senator Flinn. It is known that Gov. Stone is in Harrisburg.

Elkin's Withdrawal Discredited.

HARRISBURG, PA., April 10. (Special.)—The idea is absurd. Elkin will stay with his friends and his friends will stay with him until the result is determined in the convention.

This is State Treasurer Barnett's answer to the report from Philadelphia that Attorney General Elkin will withdraw within 24 hours as a candidate for governor.

Auditor General Hardenbergh, who was with Mr. Barnett tonight when he made this statement, supplemented it with the remark that he could see no reason why Elkin should withdraw when, in his judgment, the people were with him in his canvass.

Neither Gov. Stone nor any of the other high state officials could be induced to discuss the report for publication. Deputy Attorney General Fleitz said it was a matter about which he could not talk, but in manner indicated that he did not credit the report. Barnett and Elkin are close personal friends, and the state treasurer probably is better qualified to speak of Elkin's candidacy than any of his official associates.

Elkin has been detained at his home in Indiana since last Saturday by the illness of his daughter. Word reached here tonight that he had left there today for the east, ostensibly to meet Quay, who has left Washington to spend a few days at his Mountville farm.

Quay Leaves Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10. (Special.)—Senator M. S. Quay left for Philadelphia this morning to transact some private business, and also to confer with Insurance Commissioner Durham and his other friends regarding the political situation in the state. Mr. Durham, it is understood, was to talk with Attorney General Elkin and urge him to withdraw from the contest for governor in the interest of harmony, and the senator, while in Philadelphia today, will be advised of the success or failure of Mr. Durham's efforts.

The senator also will confer with the Philadelphians on the subject of nominating ex-Senator Cameron for governor, and if they are willing to go along, all will be definitely settled pending the arrival of Gov. Stone in this city.

PURSE STRINGS AGAIN LOOSENED BY MR. CARNEGIE

Gives Cincinnati $180,000 to Build Six Branch Libraries.

TRUSTEES ACCEPT MAGNIFICENT GIFT

Cincinnati, April 10.—Andrew Carnegie today tendered the people of Cincinnati through the board of library trustees the magnificent gift of $180,000 for the erection of six branch library buildings in the suburbs. The following letter bearing the welcome news was received:

NEW YORK, April 9.

James A. Green,
Public Library of Cincinnati:

My Dear Sir—Yours of 15th March received. I do not consider a grand central building as important as the six branches you speak of, which would cost $180,000. If Cincinnati would undertake their maintenance at cost of not less than $18,000 a year and furnish sites, as New York and other cities do, I should be glad to furnish the sum needed for the buildings as mentioned above.

Very truly yours,
ANDREW CARNEGIE.

A special meeting of the board of trustees was immediately called to take action in the matter. Mr. Green, who, together with Librarian Hodges, negotiated the gift, presented the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That the gift of Mr. Andrew Carnegie be accepted under the conditions specified in his letter and that the thanks of this board be returned to him and that the clerk of the board be instructed to formally forward to him a copy of this resolution."

Mr. Green also offered the following resolution and moved its adoption:

"That the legislature be requested to pass the necessary law to authorize this board to provide the sum of $250,000 for library purposes to enable this board to accept the gift of Mr. Carnegie and to comply with its conditions."

This was passed.

ORGAN IS TOO LARGE.

Youngstown Church Must Be Altered to Accommodate Carnegie Gift.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 10.—(Special.)—Recently Andrew Carnegie announced that he would give a $10,000 pipe organ to the Belmont Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. The proper measurements were taken of the organ loft and sent to Mr. Carnegie's expert. The organ was built accordingly.

When it arrived it was found to be too large and the rear part of the church will have to be torn down, at an expense of nearly as much as the cost of the organ, so that it can be placed.

DEPEW SERVES WARNING UPON SOUTHERN STATES

If Senators Are Elected by Popular Vote, Commonwealths Which Limit Suffrage Will Lose.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10.—Early in the senate session today Mr. Depew spoke briefly against the adoption of the resolution providing for the election of senators by popular vote. In effect he served notice on those states which had limited their suffrage that if the resolution was enacted a demand would be made on them to accord all their citizens the right to vote or suffer a loss of representatives in congress. He introduced this amendment:

The qualification of citizens entitled to vote for United States senators and representatives in congress shall be uniform in all the states, and congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation and to provide for the registration of citizens entitled to vote, the conduct of such elections and the certificate of the result.

An effort was made late to obtain an agreement for a vote on the Chinese exclusion bill, but it was unsuccessful. The indications now are that the vote will be taken next Tuesday.

The measure was under discussion during the entire session today, except for about an hour, in which time the post-office appropriation bill was considered and passed. Three speeches were made against the Chinese bill in its present form, Mr. Dillingham of Vermont concluding his remarks and Mr. Stewart of Nevada and Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts stating their objections to the bill. Mr. Stewart said he would vote for the measure if it is the best that could be obtained. Mr. Hoar, with considerable feeling, announced his vigorous opposition to the bill, declaring that he never would vote for it.

Creed Revisers at Work.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10.—The Presbyterian committee on creed revision continued its sessions today. The discussion was entirely over the third article of the statement of doctrine. This relates to the "divine purpose." The article was completed and that upon the question of "grace" was begun.

BRIGANDS WERE KIND AFTER BABY TSILKA'S COMING

WILL VISIT HER MOTHER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 10.—Miss Ellen M. Stone, the missionary who was captured by brigands in Bulgaria and held for ransom, arrived here today on the Deutschland. She looked pale and worn and said the sea voyage had made her very ill. She was met at the steamer's pier by her brother, Charles A. Stone, and by many other relatives and friends. Miss Stone said the brigands were not so fierce as might have been imagined. They said many insulting things, but never struck or beat either her or her companion, Mme. Tsilka.

Mme. Tsilka Was Chaperone.

"There have been several reports printed which stated that Mme. Tsilka had been held for ransom by our captors," said Miss Stone, "but that is a mistake. I was the one they wanted and they always take a married lady to chaperone a single one, no matter how old the latter may be. The brigands meant to take the first married woman they came across to accompany me, but the one they first found happened to be Mrs. Wosheva, a native missionary and a widow, who was very ill at the time. Mrs. Tsilka was, therefore, decided on by the brigands, for which I was very thankful afterward, and I will tell you why.

Baby Made Lot Easier.

"Seven weeks before we were released a baby was born to Mrs. Tsilka. The brigands had, by this time, become so insulting and cruel in their remarks that it was becoming unbearable. The appearance of the baby stopped all this, for the reason that the brigands of Turkey believe that a curse will settle on them if they do harm to a child or its mother. Our treatment after the birth of the baby was excellent. We began to get better food, although I must admit that it was generally very good, and the sneering remarks stopped.

Many Threats, but No Violence.

"It was when the negotiations for our release fell through or became disturbed that we were subject to our worst treatment. 'You are to die 20 days from now,' or, 'We will put a bullet in your brain soon,' were some of the pleasant things that they said to us."

Miss Stone said she would go at once to Chelsea, Mass., to see her mother, who is more than 90 years old.

VISITED GOTHAM CHARITIES.

Joseph Sibley's Son and Other Yale Men on Peculiar Mission.

NEW YORK, April 10.—(Special.)—Forty divinity students of Yale university arrived in this city today to study life among the poor of the East Side and also to make a tour of the various charitable institutions under the control of the city. They were headed by Prof. W. B. Bailey, professor of sociology. They visited Bellevue morgue and made a tour of the building. They crossed the river to Blackwells island, where the almshouse, Metropolitan and city hospitals were inspected.

Tonight they were at Mills hotel No. 1. Among those in the party are: K. Tanata of Tokio, Japan; Josiah Sibley, son of Congressman Sibley of Pennsylvania; John Bicknell of Northampton, Mass.; K. C. Reed of Kansas City, and J. C. S. Johnson of Texas.

TWO ARE KILLED BY EXPLOSION OF DYNAMITE PLANT

Four Buildings Wrecked at Powder Factory Near Shannopin.

REMAINS OF DEAD NOT RECOVERED

By JAMES S. GRIFFITH,
Staff Correspondent.

Shannopin, Pa., April 10.—The mixing house of the plant of the Columbia Powder Company of Pittsburgh was blown almost to atoms about 9:30 this morning by the explosion of a large quantity of nitro-glycerine and dynamite. Two men, who were working in the mixing house, were killed, and some other employes at the plant had narrow escapes.

The dead:

JAMES B. MOONEY, aged about 40 years, of Anderson road; was superintendent of the plant.

JOHN FREDLAND, a Swede, aged about 25 years; boarded in Shannopin; was employed in the mixing house making dynamite.

The plant of the Columbia Powder Company is located in a ravine about half way between this place and Anderson road. It consisted of a number of frame buildings, located at some distance from one another, some 500 yards up the ravine from the tracks of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad.

Four of the buildings are wrecked and all show traces of the fearful jar of the explosion. The two men in the mixing house were blown to pieces, and only a few fragments of flesh have been found. Some half-dozen other employes escaped injury and were busy about the plant this afternoon making repairs to prevent anything from dropping on to the stock of explosives stored in almost every building.

Were Making Dynamite.

The plant opened as usual this morning. Superintendent Mooney and Fredland were working in the mixing house making dynamite. In the punching house Assistant Superintendent Earl and another workman were filling cartridges with dynamite preparatory to shipment. In the sheet house and office were two young women, Miss Sadie Newell of Shannopin and Miss Lena Moneypenny of Shoustown, preparing and packing dynamite. Fireman Peter Craft was busy in the boiler house.

No person can more than surmise how the explosion occurred. The only two men who could speak with authority on that subject are blown to fragments. It is said by men who have had experience in handling such explosives that friction in the nitro-glycerine was probably responsible for the accident.

The plant is situated in a picturesque ravine just inside the boundaries of Beaver county. Through the ravine runs a brawling stream, dashing down in its rough, rocky bed until it empties into the Ohio river.

Painted Danger Color.

The buildings of the plant are situated on the bit of level ground on the banks of the stream. All are of light frame construction, with metal roofs, and are painted red, the danger color.

Coming up the ravine from the Lake

TWO MORE VICTIMS CLAIMED BY FATAL GRADE CROSSING

Wheeling Express on Panhandle Brings Instant Death to Salesman and Laborer.

LONG AND TRAGIC RECORD

The fatal grade crossing at the Grant mine tipple in Carnegie claimed two more victims yesterday. Its record is perhaps the most tragic in the Pittsburgh region. Yesterday's accident was the work of the Wheeling express on the Panhandle. The two men killed were:

DAVID HOLLAND, 45 years old, salesman; boarded at No. 125 Second avenue; supposed to be from Philadelphia.

MICHAEL HRUCE, Carnegie, 27 years old; laborer; single.

The accident occurred near the Carnegie station. Both men were crossing the tracks just opposite to the coal tipple when the express struck them. They were hurled to the side of the track and died instantly. The train was brought to a standstill and the crew carried the dead men to the station.

For a while no one seemed to know either of the men. The coroner was notified and the men were removed to Steele's undertaking establishment. Later they were identified. Holland was a picture agent and was employed by J. Hoover & Sons, of Philadelphia.

Hruce was later identified by some friends. He was employed as a laborer in a rolling mill. It was learned at the Second avenue house last night that Holland had been living there since January. Very little is known of him. The proprietress said he was quiet and had very little to say about himself.

NO ONE TO TRUST.

Head of New York Police Issues a Statement Concerning Obstacles Which Confront Him.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Police Commissioner Partridge made a statement today in which he said he had been at work since he assumed office formulating measures for the reform of the police of this city, but that owing to the magnitude of the task he had been forced to proceed slowly. To achieve lasting results would require time, and to disclose his plans would prevent their successful execution.

The commissioner declared that there was no doubt in his mind that Former Chief of Police Devery still had a powerful influence over the force, and that many men in the department clung to Devery "with apparently an all-abiding faith." Mr. Partridge said he dared not trust the captains; some officers in whom he had reposed confidence had betrayed him. The commissioner asks: "In the whole great police department of this city is there a man whom I can absolutely trust?"

Later in the day Commissioner Partridge was summoned to the city hall by the mayor. After a talk with the latter the commissioner gave out an "official" interview which modified what purported to be his former statements. He said in part:

"What I said was that the Devery influence was still too prominent in the department. So it is. What I mean is that those conditions which carry bad influence and which were brought in there, I don't say by whom, are still there. I do not say that Devery is giving orders and dictating appointments and transfers, but I do say that the subtle influence which prevailed under Devery is still there."

Col. Partridge was asked: "Do you feel that there are many higher officers in the department whom you cannot trust?" and he answered:

"I believe that there are men, there are many higher officials who would be absolutely loyal and honest in helping me to carry out my ideas and plans. There are some who give me no evidence of a readiness to suppress vice and crime."

ONE COUNCILMAN TELLS OF OFFER TO BUY SUPPORT

FIGHT BETWEEN THE RIVAL BIDS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Baltimore, Md., April 10.—A bombshell was exploded in the city hall this morning when it was definitely established that a lobby is at work to prevent the sale of the Western Maryland railroad. It is believed that the Pennsylvania railroad is behind this scheme, and this theory had a similar effect upon Mayor Hayes as waving a red cloth in the face of a bull.

Mr. Hayes himself made known the existence of this lobby by saying that a member of the city council had voluntarily come to him and told him he had been offered money for his vote and influence.

"Why, didn't you take the money and come straight to me?" said the mayor to the councilman, "so that I could have taken proper action in the case?"

Then the mayor sent a communication post-haste to States Attorney McLane, requesting him to be ready to take action looking to the immediate prosecution of the guilty person or persons the instant sufficient proof on which to hang a case can be gathered. After that the mayor ventilated his views thus:

"I care not who the official is, he will be convicted if I can prove that he accepted money for his vote or influence, and the persons offering the money will be pounced upon by me like a hawk. Already I have heard of some cases where undue influences are being brought to bear on members of the city council. These people will be watched."

The mayor also declared that he will not approve any ordinance selling the road the passage of which has been brought about through the influence of a lobby, no matter which bidder is named and no matter how much money is offered for the road.

It now seems to be assured that the mayor's ordinance for a sale will go to the council committee on Monday morning, as told in these dispatches yesterday, and that the Fullers will be the choice. There is a division of sentiment in the council, however, regarding the Fuller and Varney bids, and if the mayor's ordinance favors the former a like measure offering the road to the Varney syndicate will be submitted in the council on Monday night. This will precipitate a live-ly fight, the result of which cannot be accurately forecasted.

LENTZ TURNED DOWN.

Committee Action Unanimous—Rebuke Administered to Both. He and Tompkins.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10.—The report in the contested election case of John J. Lentz against Representatives Tompkins of the Columbus (Ohio) district was filed today. It is out of the ordinary for the emphasis of the language employed. The report is unanimous, both Democrats and Republicans joining in it.

It says many of the charges of fraud by Mr. Lentz were abandoned, as "they were evidently not intended to have any bearing upon the contest, but simply to place upon record slurs, insinuations and charges against outside pesons."

Mr. Tompkins' reply, the report says, also contained much that was unjustifiable, and then Mr. Lentz rejoined in a still more abusive and scurrilous manner.

TEN MINERS IMPRISONED.

Thought at First That They Would Perish, But All Were Finally Got Out.

MASSILLON, O., April 10.—Ten men were imprisoned in the Mud Break Mine near this city tonight, and it was feared they would perish before assistance reached them. The tipple and buildings containing the hoisting machinery are on fire and the air current into the shaft is completely shut off.

COLUMBUS, O., April 11.—Late last night the men imprisoned in the mine at Mud Break, near Massillon, were rescued through the air shaft.

BOERS ACCEPT TERMS OF PEACE FROM BRITISH

A Pretoria Dispatch Declares That Envoys Have Agreed.

Several Unconfirmed Statements Are Circulated in London.

LEADERS ARE KNOWN TO BE IN SESSION

English War Secretary Confirms the Advices That the Burghers Have Joined Each Other—Participants Have Been Assured Protection.

Boers Have Accepted British Terms of Peace.

LONDON, April 10.—The Financier and Bullionist publishes a dispatch from Pretoria this morning declaring that the Boer leaders in South Africa have accepted the British terms, that peace has finally been arranged and that the terms of the agreement have been cabled to the Boer agents in Europe.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, April 11.—Other unconfirmed statements of a similar character to the foregoing are in circulation in London tonight. It is said that Frederic Rutherford Harris, former secretary of the British Chartered South Africa Company, has received a telegram to the same effect, but nothing of any official nature concerning the matter is known.

The war secretary, Mr. Brodrick, in the house of commons today, referring to the press advices from South Africa, said Schalkburger, Reitz, Lucas Meyer and Jacobs had been joined at Klerksdorp by Gen. Botha and added that Steyn, DeWet, Delarey and three other members of the late Orange government arrived at the same place yesterday.

Safety for Envoys.

No communication, Mr. Brodrick further said, had been received from the Boer leaders except regarding safe conducts for the participators in the conference.

The colonial secretary, Mr. Chamberlain, added the information that no limit had been fixed for the expiration of the safe conducts. These would be extended so long as the negotiations were in progress, after which the delegates would be allowed to return to their respective districts without hindrance.

The South African war began in the autumn of 1899 as the result of an ultimatum forwarded to the British government on October 9, which bore a time limit extending to October 11, at 5 p. m. No answer satisfactory to the Boer government having been received at that time, a state of war was formally declared by the government of the Transvaal.

President Kruger's ultimatum demanded arbitration, the withdrawal of all British troops from the borders of the republic; that all British troops which had arrived in South Africa subsequently to June 1, 1899, be removed therefrom; that British troops on the sea en route to South Africa be not permitted to land. The alternative was war.

Demanded Franchises.

The controversy which was responsible for the outbreak of war was the unsatisfactory status of the Uitlanders in the republic. They demanded the franchise which the Boer government refused to grant on the ground that the government of the country would be taken out of the hands of the Boers and placed in the hands of gold seekers from Great Britain and elsewhere. The friction between the belligerents had been steadily increasing for many years, and it was no longer possible to prevent conflicts between the opposing parties. Great Britain's claim of suzerainty over the Transvaal and the Orange Free State was denied and the Jameson raid engendered great bitterness.

British army experts at first believed that 40,000 men would be sufficient to affect the conquest of the republics, but this force proved utterly inadequate, and for the last two years the British force in South Africa has been maintained at about 200,000 men. The total of the Boer forces opposed to this immense army, about 60,000 men at the beginning of the conflict, has been reduced until now only 8,000 to 9,000 burghers remain in the field under Gens. Delarey, Botha and DeWet, President Kruger, the president of the Transvaal, took refuge in Europe, while President Steyn, president of the Orange Free State, remains in the field.

Envoys in Session.

PRETORIA, April 10.—President Steyn, of the Orange Free State; Secretary of State Reitz, of the Transvaal; Generals President Schalkburger, of the Transvaal, and Gen. Lucas Meyer, commander-in-chief of the Orange Free State forces, passed through Kroonstad, Orange Free State, on April 6 on their way to Klerksdorp, Southwestern Transvaal, where Gen. Botha, the Transvaal commander-in-chief, arrived Monday, April 7. It was expected that Gens. DeWet and Delarey would attend the conference, to take place there.

It is understood that the Boer leaders are fully possessed of the British peace terms and that the conference then assembling was to enable the leaders to thoroughly discuss these terms.

It is expected that the final decision of the burghers will shortly be made known.

Santos-Dumont in New York.

NEW YORK, April 10.—(Special.)—Alberto Santos-Dumont arrived in New York at noon today on board the Hamburg-American line steamship Deutschland. The young Brazilian aeronaut declared that within a few years he fully expects to see a line of aerial vessels plying between New York and Europe.

FIVE MEN SLAIN IN A DESPERATE MOUNTAIN FIGHT

ATTEMPT AT A SURPRISE

The Gang Warned of Their Approach But Decide to Stand Their Ground. Many Wounded. One Captured and the Others Get Away.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Knoxville, Tenn., April 10.—This afternoon in Scott county, Virginia, eight miles north of Church Hill, five men were killed and several more wounded in a battle between the sheriff of Scott county and a posse on one side and James Wright and John Templeton and their gang of outlaws on the other.

The gang had word that the officers would attempt to surprise them and capture their entire party this afternoon. At 3 o'clock the outlaws were encamped in an almost inaccessible mountain locality, where they decided to stand their ground.

The sheriff called on the outlaw party to surrender. A volley of shots from a Winchester met the call. The volley brought down three of the sheriff's men, and was quickly answered by a return volley from the remaining members of the posse. Wright fell, wounded at this fire, mortally it is thought, and two others of the party which he headed also fell, badly wounded. The shooting became general, and two others of the sheriff's party, Samuel Wax and Joseph Moor, deputy sheriffs, were badly wounded.

The posse closed in and fought the resisting party hand to hand. Wright was too badly wounded to get away and was captured. There was a reward of $300 on his head. The Templetons and other outlaws got away. They are being pursued. The names of the killed could not be learned.

ARMOUR ESTATE.

Chicago Man Left Property Aggregating in Value Over $14,000,000.

CHICAGO, April 10.—The total valuation of the late Philip D. Armour's estate in Chicago and New York has just been arrived at. It amounts to $14,751,103, and to a large extent consists of personal property. In addition to the above named sum there is some real estate in Illinois and elsewhere, the value of which is not given.

Coraopolis People Wanted to Put the Deputy in Jail.

Parents' respect for their dead daughter and their ignorance of the laws concerning the coroner's duties, led to the arrest of Deputy Coroner W. J. Campbell yesterday morning when he attempted to hold an autopsy in the death of Mrs. Ida R. Myers, the young wife of Charles Myers, who was found dead in bed at her home in Coraopolis Tuesday.

Deputy Coroner W. J. Campbell and Dr. Walter C. McCandless were sent to Coraopolis to hold a post-mortem examination. When they arrived at the house the relatives of the dead woman refused to recognize them. The father became so incensed that he sent for an officer and Deputy Coroner Campbell was taken before the justice of the peace, John Hamilton. He was released on a promise that he would not trouble the family further. The woman's death was found to be due to heart trouble.

SCHOOL WILL HAVE A HOME.

Homeville Is to Have a Church Through Mission Board's Assistance.

The Homeville Union Sunday school is to have a permanent home, with the assistance of the home mission board of the German Reformed church, which was in session at the Monongahela house yesterday. The church-going people of Homeville will unite with the denomination, and assist in building a little church—the first in the community.

Representatives of the church board have closed the deal for a lot Sixty feet, at Home and Francis street, and plans have been accepted for a church building that will cost about $1,500. For several years a non-denominational Sunday school has been meeting in the schoolhouse, and the church authorities have agreed, because of the financial assistance being given by the people of the village, to give the Sunday school a permanent home in the new edifice. James Stewart is superintendent of the school.

REV. DR. TALMAGE AT DEATH'S DOOR

PROMINENT DIVINE IS SLOWLY SINKING AND THE END IS NEAR.

Physicians Issue a Bulletin Saying That Complications Have Set in Which Will Probably Result Fatally — Sinking Early This Morning.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10.—A change for the worse has again occurred in the condition of the Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage and the physicians are again very apprehensive of the outcome. Tonight's bulletin, issued at 9 o'clock, said: "There has been a marked change for the worse in Dr. Talmage's condition. Evidences of cerebral inflammation have appeared."

The previous bulletin, issued at 1:30 p. m., announced a slight improvement during the day, but added that the patient's condition was very serious. They also said his recovery was barely possible.

Mrs. Clarence Wyckoff, daughter of the divine, who was married yesterday, has not gone on a bridal tour, but is near the city, and will not leave the immediate vicinity of her father's bedside until there is a change in his condition.

April 11.—(Friday.)—At 1 o'clock this morning the condition of Dr. Talmage was very precarious. Fever complications also have developed, which lead the physicians to believe that recovery is entirely improbable.

BRAKEMAN CRUSHED TO DEATH AT BRADDOCK

Railroad Collision on the P. & L. E. Last Night Sent One Man to His Death.

For an hour last night John Blough, 22 years of age, a brakeman on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, was pinned between two cars at Braddock. Flames raged around him, and just when the firemen were about to give him up, they checked the fire and got him out alive. He was taken to the West Penn hospital, where he will probably die.

Shifting engine No. 213 left the main line and went in on the Standard chain works siding with a number of cars. The switch was left open. Blough went between two of the cars to cut them, and engine No. 210, west bound, drawing a heavy train, came along. The engineer saw the open switch, put on the air and called for brakes. Both he and his fireman jumped as the engine lurched to the siding.

James Griffin, engineer of No. 213, and his fireman, Frank Miller, jumped just as No. 210 mounted their light engine, crushing it completely. They were both slightly injured. The tank of No. 213 tipped over on the oil house of the chain works and it was set on fire from the engine. The firemen were called. Fire spread from the oil house to the cars holding Blough.

This was about 8 o'clock, and it was over an hour before Blough could be reached. He was nearly dead when the firemen and trainmen reached him, and the surgeon said he could hardly live through the night. Who left the switch open could not be ascertained last night, but some of the men said that Blough was responsible for his own injuries and the wreck. The loss to the railroad company will be several thousand dollars, while the loss to the chain company will be $500.

FOUND IN HOSPITAL.

The Mysterious Disappearance of a South Side Man Cleared Up.

Lewis Nishlick, of Morgan street, Southside, for whom the police of this city have been searching since last Monday, was found in the West Penn hospital last night. Nishlick disappeared from his home on Monday, and since that time nothing had been heard from him. His wife, fearing that he had been killed, visited the morgue, but as her husband's body was not to be found there, she requested the police to endeavor to locate him. Yesterday Nishlick discovered through the newspapers that his wife and the police were searching for him. He notified Night Clerk Charles Butler that he was the man wanted.

Nishlick was taken to the hospital Monday night with a broken arm, a gash in his scalp and numerous other wounds, which, it is thought, he received in a street car accident. Nishlick is unable to tell how he came by his injuries.

NATIONAL COUNCIL WINS.

New Jersey State Council Jr. O. U. A. M. Must Pay Per Capita Tax to That Body.

TRENTON, N. J., April 10.—Chancellor Magie filed an opinion today in the suit involving the controversy between the National council, Jr. O. U. A. M., and the New Jersey state council of that body. The decision, while on a subsidiary point, discusses the merits of the controversy and is a victory for the national body.

The case was before the chancellor on a motion to set aside an order restraining the state council from disposing of the money it had collected as a per capita tax, but which it refused to pay over to the national officers. The state council insisted that this money was to be diverted to an insurance branch and that this branch had been established through an illegal method in the changing of the national constitution. The chancellor holds that the fact that this money was to be used for the insurance branch was not established by proper proof. Counsel for the national body says that he takes the decision to mean that the state body will have to pay over to the national body the per capita tax and then fight out the insurance question in a subsequent suit.

ELKIN STAYS IX THE FIGHT TILL THE END

rival of Mr. Cameron from South Carolina.

Washington Sentiment for Cameron.

The sentiment here seems to be strongly in favor of the nomination of the former senator. As a rule the members of the delegation will rally behind his standard if he consents to run, although there may be some objectors.

Representative Connell believes Mr. Cameron cannot unite the party, while Representative Sibley says he believes Wesley R. Andrews of Meadville would be a stronger candidate than Mr. Cameron by 50,000 votes. Representative Jack is the only member of the delegation who is standing out loyally for the nomination of Mr. Elkin, while Representative Palmer is still hopeful that the lightning may strike ex-Lieut. Gov. Watres of Scranton.

Among the visitors from the state who came here today to see Senator Quay and were disappointed were J. C. Righley of Williamsport, Frank D. Ray of Meadville, W. C. Miller of Bedford county, a member of the last legislature; Howard P. Butts, postmaster of Huntingdon, and A. S. Welsh, chairman of the Huntingdon county committee. All saw Senator Penrose and were unanimous in the belief that if some other than Mr. Elkin is nominated for governor the state will go Republican by an old-time majority.

WATRES BELIEVES QUAY COULD STOP ELKIN

Scranton Man Still Insists That He Will Get the Gubernatorial Nomination.

Col. Louis A. Watres of Scranton spent all of yesterday in Pittsburgh. Before leaving for Philadelphia last night he said that he was confident of securing the nomination for governor at the hands of the next Republican state convention.

Col. Watres came here from Washington fresh from a conference with Senator M. S. Quay. While here he transacted some business and called upon a number of friends, among the number being Thomas S. Bigelow. The colonel says that he was not here looking after the Allegheny county delegation.

"Several months ago I said that John P. Elkin would not be nominated for governor," said Col. Watres, "and I have no reason to change my mind. I will remain in the race until the votes are counted and am confident of winning. To secure harmony in the Republican party it will require the elimination of the influences that made possible the legislature of 1901 and the administration that ruled it."

Thinks Quay Could Stop It.

In answer to a question Col. Watres said he believed that Quay could prevent the nomination of Elkin. He remarked that but 23 of the 67 counties had elected delegates and not near all of them are for Elkin.

He called attention to the fact that while Elkin's friends claimed the Mercer delegation were for him, Maj. Alexander McDowell said that this was not the case.

Col. Watres spoke very kindly of former Senator J. Donald Cameron, but says that he does not know whether Mr. Cameron intends to be a candidate.

The politicians generally are looking for the formal withdrawal of Mr. Elkin. They expect that he will soon be convinced that his nomination will not be advisable this year and that he will step aside.

Many of the men who at first refused to see that it would be unsafe to make him the standard bearer of the party are now joining in the request that he quit the race.

Carry Much Weight.

These same men are in control of a good many delegates and their talks will probably have much weight.

Thomas S. Bigelow says that the Citizens party movement in the county is to go ahead. He declares that there will be an independent ticket for county officers even though the old organization should make a deal with some state leaders. It is probable that the names of the candidates will appear upon several columns of the ballot. This could be done whether or not there is fusion with the Democrats.

THE CHILDREN, HEAVEN BLESS THEM!

Are They Frail, Restless and Nervous?

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Will Make Them Vigorous, Healthy, Bright and Happy.

As a rule, parents are to blame if their children are puny, weak, nervous and irritable. The little ones may be well clothed and fed, yet still be sadly neglected from a physical point of view.

It should be remembered that the children inherit many of the troubles that parents suffer from. Thousands of little ones are subjects of nerve troubles, a condition inherited from father or mother. This nervous condition begets irritableness, bad temper, headache, indigestion and stomach derangements. Such children need the best and most intelligent care, or they will grow up in misery and disease.

Give the little ones Paine's Celery Compound for the next few weeks and note well its fortifying effect on the nervous system; watch the growth in muscle and flesh.

Thousands of thankful letters have been received from glad fathers and mothers who have had their dear ones perfectly restored to health and strength by Paine's Celery Compound.

Mr. J. P. Surface, Bluefield, W. Va., deems it necessary to give testimony in favor of Paine's Celery Compound. His little son was nervous, and in a dangerous condition from heart trouble. Dr. Phelps' marvelous prescription was used, and the little fellow's health is now satisfactory. Mr. Surface writes thus: "Up to the time our little boy commenced to take Paine's Celery Compound he had heart trouble. Every night after going to bed he would have nervous spells, and could not get his breath, and did not know what he was doing. In six weeks that he has been using Paine's Celery Compound he has wonderfully improved in health and strength."

MACHINE MEN MAY DEMAND INVESTIGATION

Tales of Bribery in Select Council Have Stirred Them Up.

CITIZENS FAVOR THE PLAN

They Made an Honorable Fight for Booth, They Say, and They Are Not Afraid of Aany Scrutiny of Their Acts.

Machine members of select council say that they intend to demand an investigation of the alleged bribery in connection with the organization of the branch. W. E. Sankey of the Twenty-seventh ward is said to have his attorney at work on a resolution that is to furnish the means of starting the probe.

The old organization men will probably be willing to broaden the scope of the inquiry. Many citizens would like to have them write their resolution so it would include a thorough airing of mystery surrounding Wabash and Pennsylvania railroad ordinances in the councils that just died.

There are plenty of things that might be investigated, and since the machine is so anxious to turn on the light the people are hopeful that no field will be neglected.

The Citizens party men say that they have nothing to fear from a thorough inquiry. J. J. Booth and his friends say that they made a fair and honorable fight for him as a candidate for president of select council. They are willing to have their actions in that campaign thrown open to the closest scrutiny.

Some Doubt Sincerity.

There are some men—and they are not all outside of the old organization—who think that the machine is doing considerable bluffing about the investigation.

There are some skeletons that might cause trouble if forced out of closets. The machine men are not the only men that are making charges of bribery. One can hear stories about old organization men that might not sound well on the witness stand.

The machine men are always hunting an opportunity to cause trouble for Former Director E. M. Bigelow. Some of them think that they can get some hold upon him in connection with the organization of select council. Several conferences have been held to map out a plan of campaign. They believe that the statement made by Evan Jones of the Thirty-sixth ward will give them a chance for revenge.

There has even been talk of having the men that voted for Lamble combine in instituting a suit for slander against E. M. Bigelow. Mr. Bigelow is not in the least worried and is ready to have the inquiry proceed.

Talked It Over Informally.

President Lamble and Councilmen John A. Murphy, S. J. Wainwright and "Ollie" Atkinson had an informal talk yesterday about an investigation. Mr. Murphy says he is confident that a resolution providing for an inquiry will be introduced at the session of select council Monday evening. He thinks that the members should insist upon a chance to clear themselves.

None of the Citizen members have been found who are opposed to an investigation.

They all want the doors opened and every bit of evidence possible brought out. They will insist that the inquiry shall not be conducted along narrow lines, but advantage will be taken of the opportunity to probe in a number of directions. It is said that the facts behind the hold-up of the Wabash and Pennsylvania ordinances will be sought for. The former was pigeonholed in committee over a year ago and the latter was kept in confinement during the closing months of the last session.

The Citizens party of the Seventeenth ward met last night for an election of officers. The meeting was held in the headquarters at Forty-third and Butler streets. Ex-Chief William Coates, who presided at the meeting, refused to take any office. The following officers were elected: Henry Werneberg, chairman; John Dacy, vice chairman; George Metcalf and Thomas C. McMahon, secretaries, and William La Goulion treasurer.

IN MEMORY OF GRANT.

The Americus Club Dinner on April 26 Will Be a Record-Breaker.

The 16th annual dinner of the Americus club at the Hotel Henry, April 26, in commemoration of the birth of Gen. Grant, promises to be one of the most interesting in the history of the club. Some of the most prominent men in the country have signified their intention to be present.

Among the distinguished gentlemen who will be present on that occasion and take part in the exercises are the Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury; the Hon. H. C. Payne, postmaster general; the Hon. Philander C. Knox, attorney general of the United States; Congressman Charles E. Littlefield of Maine, the Hon. Matthew Stanley Quay, United States senator of Pennsylvania, and the Hon. James M. Beck, assistant attorney general of the United States. Mr. Littlefield has consented to respond to the toast of "Grant." Secretary Shaw has taken for his subject, "Governmental Evolution." The Hon. H. C. Payne will take as his subject, "The Men of Our Times." Attorney General Knox will act as toastmaster.

SETTLEMENT EXPECTED.

Leaders in Electric Linemen's Strike Think Adjustment Will Come Today.

The leaders of the electrical linemen's strike expect that the wage scale will be signed today by the Pennsylvania Light & Power Company of Allegheny and the Holmes Electric Company. The executive board of the union is to have a conference with representatives of those companies.

At the executive board's headquarters it was said last night that five linemen employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company quit work on the Ft. Wayne bridge yesterday afternoon. The company has a gang of six linemen who travel, eat and sleep in a special car and are taken wherever their work is needed. They were brought into Pittsburgh to take down the railroad company's wires on the bridge preparatory to the removal of the old structure.

The Western Union has three cables that cross the bridge and when the traveling linemen went on they were put to work on the Western Union company's cables. They did not know that they were Western Union cables, but about 1 o'clock some of the strikers yelled to them to come down, as they were doing non-union work. Five of the men slid down the poles at the end of the bridge and struck. At the executive board's office it was said last night that the railroad company had promised to take their men away today.

SAD ENDING OF LAD'S FOND DREAM

CHARLES FRY'S PURSUIT OF PRINCE HENRY ENDS IN JAIL.

He Wanted to Shake Royalty's Hand and Ran Away from Home to Get the Chance—Now Charged With Incorrigibility.

Because he loved Prince Henry so, Charles Fry, a Carnegie 16-year-old, will probably be sent to Morganza. Fry was in jail last night, charged with incorrigibility. He spent most of the night looking reproachfully at the hand that was to be made sacred by the touch of the royal palm and that, therefore, was the cause of the youth's present tribulations.

Had it not been for the crowds of grown Americans that surrounded the prince on all occasions when Fry prowled about the fringe of the gatherings, and who can't be sent to Morganza, that hand might now be the pride of its owner and decline to have aught to do with its companion—the left. Indeed, the latter hurt itself, and by preventing its owner from penetrating boldly into the crowds maliciously prevented the desired bestowal of royal honor upon the right.

Charles and his chum, George Pointer, were much excited by the arrival of a live prince, and one day they disappeared from their homes. Their worried parents enlisted the aid of the police, and sent out circulars asking that the boys be detained if found.

The youngsters went to Washington. There they caught glimpses of the prince's whiskers, but could never get near enough to shake his hand, an honor that, if they but knew it, was reserved for few.

When the prince's party left Washington the boys went west, too, giving Pittsburgh a wide berth and going via Cincinnati.

At Cincinnati Fry almost got to the prince, he thought, but in pushing his way through the crowd his left hand was twisted and hurt. This discouraged him, and he worked his way back to Carnegie. His parents had him arrested. Pointer is supposed to be still on Prince Henry's trail.

BOROUGHS OBJECT TO RETAIL LIQUOR WAGONS

Statements Made Before the License Court That a Change Should Be Made.

License court adjourned yesterday until Monday, after completing the hearing of the wholesale dealers, when the retail lists will be again taken up. The hearing on Monday will commence with the Second ward, Braddock, and will be called to the Duquesne list.

Of the four remaining applicants in Jefferson township heard during the afternoon session all were applying for new places. Their testimony as to the necessity for license was practically the same. All testified that wagons from Duquesne and Homestead made frequent trips to the place selling and delivering beer and liquor. One witness said that beer wagons came into the town as early as 3 o'clock in the morning.

Joseph Straka, who is now driver of a beer wagon for a wholesaler, is applying for license at Tressel postoffice, Plum township. He was faced by a row of remonstrants who claimed there was no necessity for the place and that it would be only another nuisance in the community.

Both the witnesses for the applicant and the remonstrants testified to the fact that much beer was brought in there on wagons and it was no trouble to buy from them. The remonstrants thought when it could be obtained so easily there could be no necessity for a wholesale house there, while the applicant's witnesses considered this a good reason for its being and testified to beer kegs and cases being sent out of the place by the carload.

A witness for the applicant, a physician, testified that the place was a necessity and would be a great convenience to the miners in that community. He explained to the court that these miners needed liquor as others need coffee. They were shut away from the light of day in the damp mines and worked very hard. They took a drink the first thing in the morning, he explained, and another when their day's work was done.

Straka admitted, when questioned by the remonstrants' attorney, that he was convicted in 1898 for illegal liquor selling. A witness for the remonstrants testified that the miners now bought beer for their Saturday night celebrations and would not go to work until it had all been consumed. He thought it would be worse if a wholesale house was there.

Niel McDermott and Edward Horan, who have a licensed place at Helen and George streets, in Stowe township, just outside of McKees Rocks, were questioned as to their business. McDermott is the burgess of McKees Rocks and interested in other lines of business. He was asked by the court if he was not one who remonstrated against McKees Rocks dealers. He explained they did not do a legitimate business, selling from their wagons in Stowe township and in other ways violating the laws. He said he signed to protect his business.

DOING GOOD WORK.

The Reformed Church Has Made Marked Progress Since Mr. Roosevelt Became President.

The board of home missions of the Reformed church held an all-day session yesterday, in the Monongahela house, the entire 11 members from various parts of the country being present. The Rev. Dr. E. R. Eschbach presided. Reports were heard from the various sub-committees and other routine work performed. The board is preparing its annual report for the general synod which convenes in Washington, D. C., next month, and will go in a body to lay the cornerstone of the new church in which the president and his family will worship.

It is believed that President Roosevelt's position has had much to do with the recent increase which is reported. In this city there has been a notable increase in membership. The Rev. A. C. Dieffenbach, who has been doing missionary work in Allegheny city, has so prospered that he came before the board last night and petitioned for the formation of a permanent church organization. He has over 100 in his classes and proposes to organize next week. Mr. Dieffenbach will be chosen as pastor. The board will conclude its work today.

BLOOD-MARKED HATCHET POINTS TOWARD MILLER

Circumstantial Evidence Accuses the Detroit Music Teacher of Murder.

BLOOD MARKS ON CLOTHES

Confronted by Evidences of Guilt the Suspected Slayer of Carrie Jennett Faints—Victim's Body Is Marked by Fearful Wounds.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Detroit, April 10.—What the police consider to be a strong link in the chain of circumstantial evidence that they are weaving about Prof. Joseph M. Miller, aged 47, a music teacher and a married man with a family, who is under arrest on suspicion of brutally murdering Miss Carrie M. Jennett on Thirteenth street just before midnight last night was discovered this evening.

It is a bloodstained hatchet which was found in the drawer of a table in Miller's kitchen. There is now the following circumstantial evidence against Prof. Miller, who was the girl's music teacher, and had paid her such marked attentions that her father had asked him to keep away from the house:

Found Telltale Bloodstains.

When he was examined at the Grand River Avenue police station this morning what are supposed to be bloodstains were found on his shirt sleeves, his trousers, shoes, hat and overcoat; a towel was discovered in his kitchen with what are supposed to be bloodstains on it; when he was asked for an explanations of the stains on his clothing he gave none, and finally the bloodstained hatchet was found tonight.

Miss Jennett, who was 22 years of age and who would have become a mother in a few months, was most brutally done to death just before 12 o'clock last night. She was felled by a terrific blow on the head, which broke her neck, and her throat was cut.

Murderer Was Merciless.

A blow from some instrument made a hole in the middle of her forehead and behind her left ear was a deep stab wound, evidently made by the same instrument that was used to cut her throat. In addition to these ghastly wounds a heavy blow had been struck on the side of her face, fracturing the cheek bone. Her mutilated body was found in this condition in a lonely spot on Thirteenth street. It was taken to the morgue and not identified until this morning.

Miss Jennett left her home last evening to attend a meeting of the Rebekah lodge, of which she was a member. She left the meeting about 10 o'clock and was not seen again alive. Her parents were alarmed at her not coming home, and when they heard of the murder became fearful that it might be their daughter. Mr. Jennett hurried to the morgue and there identified the remains.

Music Teacher Arrested.

The police were working on the case and questioned him as to the girl. He told them of her infatuation for Prof. Miller, and the teacher was placed under arrest. Miller took the situation very coolly when he was examined at the station. Nothing could be learned from questioning him. He was then ordered to take off his clothes and on the shirt the police found bloodstains. Miller offered no explanation of them. More stains were found on other garments. Miller still maintained absolute silence as to them. It was then decided to lock him up. While he was being registered on the blotter the music teacher collapsed and fainted. He was revived only to faint again as the officers conducted him to a cell.

Miller at Lodge Meeting.

Miller left his house last evening to attend a lodge meeting on Baker street and returned about 11:20 o'clock, apparently cool and undisturbed. He alleges that he did not leave the meeting until 11 o'clock but several persons who were there say that he left between 10 and 10:20 o'clock. The murder was committed at five minutes after 11 o'clock, as near as the officers can learn. It would have been possible for Miller to have gone from the hall on Baker street to the scene of the crime in 20 minutes. This was demonstrated tonight by a reporter who made the trip in 16 minutes. From the location of the crime to Miller's home is but a comparatively short walk.

Miller Protests Innocence.

Tonight Miller is sleeping like a child in the Grand River Avenue police station. While the police think they have strong circumstantial evidence against the suspect they admit that they are still far short of enough to convict him of the murder. Nothing can be gained from Miller by questioning. He simply insists that he knows nothing of the murder.

The blade and handle of the bloodstained hatchet which was found this afternoon had been washed but there were still stains on the clawhammer end of the instrument and on the handle where it entered the hatchet proper. It is the theory of the police that the faint bloodstains on the towel found in the kitchen came from the hatchet which was wiped on it after it had been washed. The hatchet was shown to Miller this evening but he made no comment on it.

Disease and death often lurk in a continuously neglected cold, when it might be speedily eradicated with a few doses of Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant.

WEAK KIDNEYS AND BLADDER TROUBLE

Had to Pass Water Very Often Day and Night.

CURED BY THE GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY, SWAMP-ROOT.

DR. KILMER & CO., Binghamton, N. Y.

About two years ago I had a very severe case of kidney and bladder trouble. The pain in the small of my back was so severe that I could not stand it to stay in one position more than a moment or two, and was obliged to pass water very often day and night. I tried medicines and doctors without getting relief. Noticing an advertisement in the Topeka State Journal of Swamp-Root I determined to give it a trial and bought a bottle. By the time I had finished the first bottle the pain had entirely disappeared from my back. The pain and frequent desire to pass water ceased. However, I continued to take the medicine, using about six bottles in all. That was over a year ago and I have had no return of the trouble since.

Boys Beat an Officer---An Attempted Murder

A MORGANZA OFFICER BEATEN BY TWO BOYS

DRAGGED THROUGH MUD

Was Rescued in Time to Prevent Plunge Into a Creek.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CANONSBURG, PA., April 10.—Officer Neele, of the Pennsylvania reform school at Morganza, was severely beaten by two boys today. He had a division of boys at work at a point not very far from the railroad station, when two of them attacked him, knocked him down and began prodding him with pitchforks. They rubbed him over the eyes and in one of his arms and beat him, while he cried for help. Then the assailants started to drag Neele along the muddy ground toward the creek, apparently with a view of throwing him into the stream, which was bank full.

At the blacksmith shop, across the creek, at Murray Hill, were Walter Donaldson, George Cain and Mr. Boland. These men, hearing the cries of the officer, started to his rescue. Donaldson got a revolver, and when they came close to the party the boys dropped Neele and ran.

Down the north side of the creek the pursued and pursuers sprinted, until they came to the point where the run empties into the creek, near the residence of David Crane. The run was high, but Donaldson pushed through the flood after the boys, and in this way was cut off from the others in the party, and the boys made it him with their pitchforks. Finally two officers arrived and the boys were captured and taken back to the school. Officer Neele's injuries are not dangerous. It is not known whether the boys will be kept at the school or sent to Huntingdon.

MINERS FAIL TO AGREE.

Several Conferences Held at Punxsutawney Without Effecting Settlement of Strike.

DU BOIS, PA., April 10.—Subordinate officers of the United Mine Workers of America and sub-district officers were in session all day today at Punxsutawney. They had several conferences with General Manager T. W. Robins, of the Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal & Iron company, but no results followed, as the district officers ignore the settlement made by national officials of the organization at Indianapolis.

It is stated positively that the Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal & Iron company will under no circumstances make further overtures, having already agreed to the price of mining and the conditions required, as paid in any competitive region, and as agreed to in the Altoona scale.

COKE PRODUCTION MAKES SLIGHT GAIN

Connellsville Region Still Handicapped by Car Shortage.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., April 10.—The Courier will say tomorrow: Coke production in the Connellsville region was a little better last week, over 1,500 tons, but the shipments dropped off over 400 cars. Of course, the decreased output was the fault of poor car supply. The decrease was in the Pittsburgh and eastern shipments, both of which suffered, while shipments west of Pittsburgh were 500 cars better than they were the previous week. The heavy snowstorm on Tuesday hindered the output some this week, the railroads again finding it very difficult to get the coke loaded out of the region and empties placed in the yards.

The detailed report of the operation and output of the region for the week ending Saturday, April 5, shows a total of 21,395 ovens, of which 20,635 are active and 760 are idle. Compared with the lists of the previous week there were no changes in the running order of the ovens. The total estimated production of last week was 220,637 tons, compared with 219,715 tons the previous week, a substantial gain.

The active list is likely to be decreased before long by the temporary firing of 70 ovens of the Dunbar Furnace Company at the old Ferguson plant, which has been abandoned for some time. A small tract of coal that was thought lost is being opened up and will keep the ovens going during the summer at least. The Semet-Salvay plant at Dunbar is also being increased, but the new ovens there will hardly be in operation before the summer is well on, or in the fall. A six-days' run is promised by the operators.

Shipments for the week aggregated 11,092 cars, distributed as follows: To Pittsburgh and river tipples, 4,158 cars; to points west of Pittsburgh, 5,037 cars; to points east of Connellsville, 1,897 cars. This was a decrease of 452 cars, compared with the shipments of the previous week.

The 16 plants in the lower Connellsville region ran as follows last week: The combine plants, Buffington, Edenborn, Footedale, Lambert and Leckrone, ran six days; Colonial, Colonial Coke Company, three days; Atcheson, Connellsville Coke Company, three days; Griffin, Bessemer Coke Company, four days; Hero, Hero Coal and Coke Company, six days; Lafayette, Lafayette Coal and Coke Company, five days; Lincoln, A. L. Keister & Co., six days; Parshall, Puritan Coke Company, six days; Shamrock, Fayette Coke Company, five days; Sackett, of the H. R. Sackett Coke Company, six days; Washington Nos. 1 and 2, Washington Coal and Coke Company, six days; Ada, Eleanor Coal and Coke Company, six days. The total number of ovens in the district is 3,252, of which 2,852 are active and 411 idle. The estimated production last week was 32,464 tons, compared with 32,579 tons the previous week. Shipments from the district last week were 869 cars, compared with 517 cars during the previous week.

FOUND A SKELETON.

Workmen at Altoona Given a Fright While Fixing a Roof.

ALTOONA, PA., April 10.—(Special.)—A gruesome discovery was made today by two men who were repairing the roof on the large Phoenix block, which had partly blown off during the recent storm. Under the south eaves, stowed tightly in a wooden box like a coffin and covered thickly with dust, were the bones of a human skeleton. One of the workmen became so frightened that he rushed with repeated yells through the trapdoor and down the long flight of stairs to the street below.

The other pulled the skeleton from its hiding place. It proved to be the bones of a medium-sized man. It is thought they were packed there by a physician, with some medical books, that were also found. The books were dated 20 years ago.

ATTEMPT TO MURDER YOUNG WOMAN WITH AX

STRUCK WHILE ASLEEP

Harrisburg Man Is Suspected of Attempting to Kill His Cousin.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, April 10.—An attempt to murder Miss Katie Lyter, aged 21 years, was made last night at her home at Langlestown. Harry Rebuck, of this city, is under suspicion and the police are searching for him.

Rebuck was recently sent to jail on Miss Lyter's testimony for stealing a gold watch. About midnight the girl was awakened by being struck across the head with an ax. She jumped out of bed and ran out of the house screaming for help. Her cries brought to her rescue several neighbors who chased the alleged murderer, but were unable to capture him.

He left behind a cap and gloves which have been identified as having been in Rebuck's possession. He is Miss Lyter's cousin and is alleged to have made repeated threats to kill her.

WIREMEN WILL STRIKE.

Serious Trouble for Telephone Companies Is Scheduled for This Morning.

If the members of local union No. 241, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, obey the command of the union, none of the inside wiremen of the Central District and Printing Telephone Company, the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company and the Pittsburgh Private Telephone Company will go to work in the morning. The union met last night and formulated a wage scale. The men will not present the scale and set a time to strike in default of a settlement, but will strike in advance.

The union met last night in the headquarters at No. 404 Smithfield street, and did not adjourn until midnight, some opposition being developed to the drastic measure proposed. Finally it was agreed that no member of the union shall go to work in the morning, but that, at the usual time for beginning work, a committee shall wait upon the companies concerned and present a wage scale. The union demands that inspectors be paid $2 60 a day, instead of $2 25, the present rate, and that installers shall receive $2 25 instead of $1 50. The committee has been instructed to demand not only that the new scale shall be signed by noon, but that the scale of the striking linemen shall also be signed.

NURSES GOT DIPLOMAS.

Gold Service Medals Were Also Distributed to Thirteen Girl Graduates.

The Pittsburgh Training School for Nurses held its fifteenth annual commencement exercises last night in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church in Wood street. During the evening 13 graduates received diplomas and gold service medals. During the exercises the graduates were all dressed in the regulation cap and gown. The Rev. Dr. D. E. McGill offered the prayer and Dr. L. H. Millard, dean of the faculty, delivered the address to the class. The Rev. J. M. Thoburn, Jr., D. D., in his address to the graduates, spoke of the need of nurses in both the peace and war. William McCook, president of the Hospital association, presented the members of the class with diplomas and Dr. J. H. McClelland presented the medal badges.

THE SUPPRESSED TABAYAS REPORT SEES THE LIGHT

Gov. Taft Says It Is Based on Hearsay, and Should Be Investigated.

FRICTION WITH OFFICERS

Major Gardener's Severe Criticisms of Army Methods in Philippines Written After Quarreling With Those Who Succeeded in the Field.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—The Philippine report, which Gen. Miles declared to the senate committee on the Philippines was suppressed by the war department, was given to the committee today and made public. It was from Maj. Cornelius Gardener, civil governor of Tabayas province, and severely criticises military methods in the islands.

Secretary Root also forwarded to the committee a telegram from Gov. Taft, dated at Cincinnati, on the 8th inst., in which he said:

What Taft Says of Gardener.

This report was handed to my secretary just before I sailed from Manila. On reaching Washington I submitted it to Secretary Root with the statement that Col. Gardener was successful as a military commander at Tabayas in keeping it peaceful; that he was a good governor and was popular with the people, and that I would believe implicitly anything stated of his knowledge; but that I feared the great friction between him and those officers succeeding him in military command had influenced his judgment that charges made by him, necessarily based on evidence of others, against the conduct of military affairs in the provinces, ought not to be acted on without giving those accused an opportunity to be heard, and that had I read the report before leaving Manila I should have referred it to Gen. Chaffee for investigation and comment. The secretary of war accordingly directed me to transmit the same to him for the purpose of forwarding it to Gen. Chaffee and I did so under date of February 17.

Gardener Ordered to Be Specific.

Gen. Corbin today received a cable dispatch from Gen. Chaffee saying that Maj. Gardener has been directed to submit specific charges, but that these had not yet been received. Gen. Chaffee added that when the specifications are at hand the investigation would be hurried as fast as possible.

In his report, which was dated December 16, 1901, Maj. Gardener says, among other things:

A vigorous campaign was at once organized against insurgents in arms, with the troops acting under positive orders to shoot no unarmed natives and to burn no houses except barracks. Looting was prohibited under the strictest penalties. Company and other commanders were ordered to pay for everything taken for necessity or bought from natives.

Being in close touch with the people, having visited all the pueblos one or more times, having lived with them in their homes, I know that such a sentiment once existed.

Sense of Loyalty Weakened.

Of late by reason of the conduct of the troops such as the extensive burning of the barrios, in trying to lay waste the country so that the insurgents cannot occupy it, the torturing of natives by so-called water-cure and other methods in order to obtain information, the harsh treatment of natives generally, and the failure of inexperienced lately appointed lieutenants commanding posts to distinguish between those who are friendly and those unfriendly and to treat every native as if he were, whether or no, an insurrecto at heart, this favorable sentiment above referred to is being destroyed and a deep hatred toward us engendered. If these things need be done, they had best be done by native troops, so that the people of the United States will not be credited therewith.

Almost without exception, soldiers and also many officers, refer to natives in their presence as "niggers" and natives are beginning to understand what the word "nigger" means.

The course now being pursued in this province and in the provinces of Batangas, Laguna and Samar is, in my opinion, sowing the seeds for an perpetual revolution against us hereafter, whenever a good opportunity offers. Under present conditions the political situation in this province is slowly retrograding, and the American sentiment is decreasing and we are daily making permanent enemies.

Indiscriminate Destruction.

In the course above referred to, troops make no distinction often between the property of those natives who are insurgent or insurgent sympathizers and the property of those who heretofore have risked their lives by being loyal to the United States and giving us information against their countrymen in arms. Often every house in a barrio is burned.

The work of the Philippine commission and the laws that have been enacted by it, are everywhere favorably commented upon by the natives. The efforts being made for the general education of the people are appreciated by all. The provincial government and the municipal governments established are slowly bringing order out of chaos and anarchy, and there begins to be visible everywhere in this province progress and prosperity. True loyalty and contentment can only come under a benign civil government.

Gen. MacArthur continued his testimony before the committee, during which he said that one of his orders instructed the American forces to kill it possible the enemy found fighting and with arms in his hand. In reply to questions Gen. MacArthur said that in war the prime object is to disable the enemy and to kill him if possible when in battle. To the good marksmanship of the Americans he attributed the large proportion of Filipinos who were killed in battle to the number of wounded.

Not Slaughter, but War.

Pressing his questions Senator Patterson asked if the killing of 20 Filipinos to one American was not "simply slaughter,"

"No," replied Gen. MacArthur, "not when your adversary stands up and fights you."

Speaking of the educated Filipinos, Gen. MacArthur said many of them were men of good character and generally showed ability. Among others of whom he spoke was Mabini, who, he said, had a dream of a Polynesian confederacy, "an able man, but a dreamer, and, unfortunately, paralyzed," he added.

"Where is he now?" asked Senator Patterson.

"In Guam," laconically responded the witness.

"How did he get there?"

"I sent him because he was an agitator."

Civil Government Report.

The report of the house committee on insular affairs on the bill for the administration of civil affairs in the Philippines was filed today by Chairman Cooper. It says now is an opportune time to make a definite promise to the Philippine people that they shall have a share in the central government of the islands. As to slavery, the report says:

"The problem presented is one not to be solved by eloquent denunciation of the system of slavery, nor by mere declamation concerning the blessings of liberty. Its proper solution demands tactful methods which shall be at the same time just and practicable."

The report devotes much attention to the advantages of the proposed coinage system based on the gold standard, which differs from the silver system proposed by the senate bill.

The Democrats filed a minority report, which amounts to a declaration of policy on the Philippines contemplating ultimate independence of the islands.

TWO ARE KILLED BY EXPLOSION OF A DYNAMITE PLANT

Erie railroad tracks, one sees first the sheet house and office. One hundred feet further up the valley, across the stream, stands a storage house. Another 100 feet up is the ruin of the punching house, a dilapidated building which looks as though it had been through a western cyclone.

Near the punching house there is an elbow in the hillside, which towers high above the valley on both sides. Just around this elbow of the hill a gaping hole yawns in the earth. This hole marks the spot where the mixing house stood yesterday morning. Across the stream, possibly 100 feet further up, lies a mass of debris, the only distinguishable things being a battered boiler and a tall smokestack stretching far above the ruins.

Run Explosive Through Pipes.

Across the stream again still further up the ravine and almost hidden by thick trees and underwood, stands what is known as the factory, where nitroglycerine is made. Between the factory and the mixing house, which are both on the same side of the stream, runs a pipe through which nitro-glycerine is taken from one building to the other. Still further up the ravine, entirely hidden from the boiler house, is a storehouse but seldom used.

Picture these small buildings, standing in as pretty a ravine as Beaver county affords, their bright red walls glinting in the spring sunlight, the budding trees waving bare limbs in a gentle breeze. It must have been a fair and peaceful scene.

Quicker than a thought, without an instant's warning, there is a terrific explosion. Immediately the scene is changed. The air filled with splinters and debris of all kinds; trees shaken to their very roots by the force of the concussion; down the ravine a little knot of frightened employes, running for dear life; three of the little group of buildings shattered wrecks, and the others much the worse for wear. So much for man's ingenuity. He makes an explosive and cannot control it.

Caused By Friction.

The mixing house, where the explosion took place, was the largest of the buildings. It stood on the hillside, with its second story just on a level with a roadway, which winds along half way up the hill. It was in this building that the dynamite was made. When the explosion occurred, no person has any idea how much explosive was in the mixing house. It is only known that the dynamite which two men had made since morning and enough nitro-glycerin to last them all day, must have been there.

Supt. Mooney and Fred Land were making dynamite, and it is supposed that friction, possibly on only one drop of the glycerin, started the explosion which communicated to all the rest of the glycerin in the house, as well as to the dynamite strewn about. Now the building is nothing, and a hole in the ground about 35x15 feet, marks the spot where it stood.

Scattered about the ravine and hillsides and over the fields and meadows for miles, are pieces of the wreckage. The wooden building was broken into fragments not large enough for good kindling wood. All about are broken boxes marked "Explosive, Dangerous," and bearing the name of the Columbia Powder Company.

Railroad Torn Up.

A small railroad track, for dinkey cars, connects the various buildings of the plant. Where this road crosses the stream near the site of the mixing house it is blown out of existence. The bent rails are lying about, twisted out of shape, and the ties and roadbed are blocking the stream. Even late in the afternoon bits of splintered timber kept floating down stream from some hillside spot where they had been jolted into the water.

The explosion of the mixing house wrecked the boiler house completely. Fireman Craft was in the house, but while he was thrown off his feet by the force of the explosion, he managed to get out of the boiler house before it fell in on him. He escaped with a few slight scratches. In the punching house Asst. Supt. Earl and another workman were filling dynamite cartridges. Earl had a shell in his hand when the explosion occurred, and there were 40 boxes of dynamite in the building. The concussion of the first explosion did not make the dynamite explode, else at least two more lives had been wiped out.

Employes Ran from Building.

The punching house was badly damaged by the explosion. Earl and his companion jumped from the window and started down the valley. Fireman Craft was close behind them. Before they reached the sheet house and office Miss Newell and Miss Moneypenny rushed from the door. All ran down the ravine, fearing another explosion. People from the neighborhood instantly realized what had happened as in many houses windows fell in. Hardly had the echoes of the explosion ceased reverberating among the Ohio valley hills, when every person in the vicinity hurried toward the site of the dynamite works.

As soon as it was ascertained who had been in the wrecked building and the force of the explosion was known to everyone, a search was made for the bodies. After diligent looking a few fragments were found on the hillside, but none of the pieces of bone and flesh picked up were as large as a man's hand. It is hardly possible that the remains of the two dead men will ever be found, and if they are, it will be impossible to identify them, as the bits found are charred until they do not look like human flesh.

Trees Were Damaged.

The wooded slopes of the hills show plain traces of the explosion. Hanging about on trees are grotesque bits of bagging, burlap and even pieces of wood. Tough young beech trees in the woods are split several feet up their trunks and limbs are broken off.

The force of the explosion was felt miles away. Back over the hills at Gringo, in the oil country, the drillers heard it and supposed some well was being shot. Windows were broken all around for miles. At the Crescent hotel, at Anderson road, probably two miles from the scene of the accident, windows were shattered. In Shousetown, several miles away, the explosion was heard plainly and people rushed from their homes in terror. Within a few minutes a perfect shower of small splinters of wood and debris fell all over the town.

The only explanation offered for the escape of the punching house, stored as it is with dynamite, is its location. It is on the same side of the stream as the mixing house, but between them is an elbow of the hill. Across the stream there is a wide, level space up to the hill. Part of the elbow was torn away, but it deflected the force of the concussion across the ravine and saved the punching house, with its occupants.

Officials Hurried to the Rescue.

As soon as knowledge of the explosion was received at the city offices of the company officials left for the plant to do everything possible for the injured and the families of the killed. Fredland has no known relatives in this country. Mooney lived in a nice new home just at the mouth of the ravine. When his wife heard of his awful death she was utterly prostrated and was under a physician's care all day. The couple had no children.

The plant of the Columbia company has exploded twice before. The first time it was located on a hill overlooking this town. Then the explosion took place about 4 o'clock in the morning, and there was no loss of life, but great damage to houses here. After that the plant was moved to the ravine, where it now stands. In January, 1897, it exploded again, killing the superintendent, named Stickney, and two girls employed in the office. Then the plant was under one roof, but when it was rebuilt isolated buildings were put up, and the wisdom of this was proven today.

No accurate estimate of loss could be secured, but the greatest damage to the company will be from loss of time in filling orders. The buildings destroyed were of light frame construction.

Several hundred yards down the ravine from the plant is a large hole filled with water. This hole is a mark of the second explosion five years ago. Still about it are bits of charred wood, parts of the ruined buildings.

JEROME HAS DOUBTS.

Doesn't Believe James McAuliffe Was Murdered—Identification Not Trustworthy.

NEW YORK, April 10.—District Attorney Jerome said today he placed little reliance in the alleged identification of two policemen of the West Forty-seventh street station last night as men who had been seen to put James McAuliffe, who was a witness against Wardman Glennon, into a cab a short time before McAuliffe was found dying in the street.

Mr. Jerome said one of the men who had made the identification had offered aid in the Florence Burns case, but had produced nothing of value.

"Up to the present," said the district attorney, "I see no reason to change the belief I have always held that McAuliffe was not murdered."

Midnight Mob Pelts Police in the Streets With Cobblestones.

CITY IS TERROR-STRICKEN

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BRUSSELS, April 11.—(1 A. M.)—Serious conflicts between the rioters and the police, in which over 30 persons were wounded, including women and children, occurred here late last night in the vicinity of the Maison du Peuple.

The first encounter took place in the Rue des Minimes, where the mob pelted the police with cobblestones. The police then charged with fixed bayonets, and as a result three men were severely and several others slightly wounded. The mob then proceeded to the Rue Stevens, in front of the Maison du Peuple, where a still more serious conflict occurred. Over 100 shots were fired from both sides. The women and children were wounded here, and they, together with the men injured, were taken into the Maison du Peuple.

Toward midnight this district of Brussels had the appearance of a city in revolt. The rioters had torn up the street car rails and erected a sort of barricade to fortify their position at the Maison. By strenuous efforts the police managed to clear the Rue Stevens, but the Maison du Peuple was left in possession of the rioters.

FLOOD REACHES ITS HEIGHT.

No Damage on the River Banks Reported and No Fears of Too High Water Entertained.

The flood on the local rivers reached its maximum stage yesterday morning and last night the water began to recede. The stage at Davis Island dam at 10 o'clock last night was 19.6 feet, and it was reported that the water had fallen about one foot. There was no damage reported as a result of the high water in the low-lying sections of Pittsburgh and Allegheny.

As predicted by the local weather office, there was a decided change in the temperature of yesterday, and during the afternoon the cloudy weather cleared away and the sun came out during the afternoon. The prediction for today is for fair weather, with a stationary temperature.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BULUWAYO, MATABELELAND, April 10—Amid an intense throng of soldiers, civilians and natives, the body of Cecil Rhodes was today committed to its rock tomb in the Matoppas hill. The coffin was shrouded in a union jack and the wreath sent by Queen Alexandra was laid upon it as it was lowered into the grave.

The funeral party started from Fuller's hotel early this morning. The procession was five miles long as it wound through the hills and gorges. Every sort of conveyance was made use of. Some were on foot, others were on horseback, or on bicycles, while still others were in wagons and carriages.

While the procession was a mile from the grave everybody dismounted and concluded the journey on foot. Twelve oxen hauled the coffin to the almost inaccessible summit of the kopje, where the Chiefs, Shembli, Faku and Umgula and Chiefs, Shembli, Faku and Umgula and 2,000 natives assembled to witness the Christian interment rites, which they afterward supplemented in their own fashion by the sacrifice of 15 oxen to the shade of the great dead chief.

EDITORS HELD FOR LIBEL AND SEDITION

Filipinos Arrested for Criticising Commission and Judge.

OFFICIALS DENOUNCED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MANILA, April 10.—Excitement prevails here on account of the arrest of the editor and proprietor of Freedom, a local publication, who is charged with sedition in publishing recently an article from an American periodical, to which the editor of Freedom agreed.

He also added remarks of his own, censuring the United States Commission's rule, and saying that when it started in July last every paper in the city upheld it, since which they had all dropped by the wayside, as they would not support arbitrary government, "especially when evidences of carpet-bagging and rumors of 'graft' were too thick to be pleasant."

The main charges made were that in many cases the Filipino office-holders are rascals, and that the commission has exalted to the highest positions Filipinos who are notoriously corrupt.

The editors of the Volcano have also been arrested on a suit of the government for demanding the removal of the judge who recently tried Senor Valdez, the editor of a local Spanish paper, who was fined 4,000 pesetas for libeling two Filipino members of the commission, and who is now trying the editor of Freedom under the sedition law.

Many False Alarms—The number of false alarms that are being sent in to the fire and police departments convinces the officials that some practical joker or crank is at work. There have been more than 20 false calls in the past two months. Every effort that has been made to catch the person who is sending in the calls by telephone has so far proved futile.

First Mass This Morning—The Rev. Father Thomas Hearn, appointed pastor of St. Richard's church to succeed Father Conway, deceased, arrived at his new charge last night from Waynesburg and immediately took up the work. His pastorate began immediately on his entering the parish grounds. He will celebrate mass for the first time in St. Richard's at 7 o'clock this morning.

Worked Too Hard—A post-mortem examination was held on Mrs. Ida R. Myers at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeffreys, in Coraopolis, yesterday at noon. A verdict of death from over-exertion was rendered. The funeral services were held later, and at 4 o'clock interment took place. The funeral was attended by a large number of friends and relatives.

Contagious Diseases—The bureau of health yesterday reported 13 new cases of typhoid fever, three each in the Eleventh and Twenty-second and one each in the Fifth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Twenty-third, Thirty-second and Thirty-sixth wards; five new cases of scarlet fever, two in the Seventeenth and one each in the Nineteenth, Twenty-second and Thirty-fifth wards, and one new case of diphtheria in the Eleventh ward.

New School Assured—West Homestead borough will soon have a new public school building to replace the one recently destroyed by fire. The borough school board at the meeting held yesterday accepted the plans of Architect Eckels for an eight-roomed red brick building to cost, completed, $45,000. The building will be erected on the site of the one destroyed by fire and work will be commenced as soon as bids can be secured.

Liberty Short-Lived—Harvey Quinn of Howley street, near Mifflin street, was arrested yesterday shortly after his release from the workhouse by Police Capt. C. F. Ford and lodged in No. 5 police station as a suspicious person. He was arrested on a charge of larceny preferred by George F. Adams, with whom Quinn boarded. The former alleges that about a month ago Quinn stole a watch valued at $75 and an overcoat from his boardinghouse. Quinn will be given a hearing today.

Time Limit Set—Patrick Dolan, president of the Pittsburgh district of the United Mine Workers, said yesterday that if the coal operators along the West Penn railroad failed to sign the wage scale by April 16 a strike would be declared. There are 27 operators in the field, but according to Dolan they are so intimately connected that the signature of one operator carries with it several others. Nine representative operators have agreed to sign the scale, he said, leaving four more who have refused.

A New Union—Lodges of the ornamental and architectural housesmiths will hold a convention in the Knights of Labor hall on Monday to form an international union. There are 13 local unions in the United States organized during the last few years, and all are independent. Each local union is entitled to one delegate for each 50 members. The committee on entertainment for the convention is composed of Thomas McGregor, John B. Thompson, Joseph Dolber, M. J. Cogar, Edward McNeil and Thomas Kelly.

New Church for Etna—There will be a meeting of the German Roman Catholics of West Etna on Sunday evening for the purpose of considering plans for the new church which they are to build in West Etna. At a meeting held about a week ago a plot of ground 250 by 175 feet at Grant and Wilson streets, owned by Mr. Wendell Kraus, was purchased at a cost of $7,500. Next Sunday's meeting will be for the purpose of considering plans as to the erection of the new building.

Will Press the Case—The United Mine Workers intend to prosecute the case of Vice President Uriah Bellingham against the coal and iron policemen who arrested him at the Ellsworth company's mine. It is probable that a meeting will be arranged with the heads of the company and the wage dispute settled. If the company accedes to the miners' demands no damage suit for the arrest of Bellingham will be brought against the company, but in any case the prosecution of the coal and iron policemen will continue.

New Guard Appointed—Warden Lewis of the Allegheny county jail appointed William Mazon as one of the guards of that institution yesterday to fill one of the five vacancies recently made by the prison board at their meeting on Tuesday when they discharged the guards for permitting the Biddles to escape. Mazon lives in Castle Shannon and has been employed on the Castle Shannon railroad for 13 years. Mazon was on duty last night. John Anderson, who was appointed as one of the night guards by Warden Lewis, has been transferred to the office as night clerk to fill the position formerly held by James McGarey.

Fuss in Braddock—"Time up" stamped on an envelope containing a bill of goods caused trouble in Braddock yesterday. A furniture firm sent the bill to a customer, and when he received it with "time up" stamped on the envelope was of the opinion that the firm was demanding immediate payment. The firm protested that they did not so stamp the envelope, and did all they could to appease the wrath of the customer. He was not satisfied until it was ascertained that the "time up" stamp was placed on by the letter carrier, who, when he received the letter, could not deliver it within the eight hours of his day's work, and stamped it to show the cause of delay.

FIRE AT THORNBURG.

The Home of William O'Donovan Was Burned to the Ground Last Night.

The colonial house owned and occupied by William O'Donovan in Harvard street, Thornburg, was completely destroyed by a fire which broke out at 6 o'clock last evening. The house was at the top of a high hill above Crafton. It was a two-story building, the first story being of fancy brick and the second of shingles. The fire was first discovered by Mr. McClaren, an architect of Thornburg, but it was too far gone at that time to be extinguished. The building and its contents were valued at $10,000. The loss is nearly covered by insurance.

TWELVE PAGES

Inviting Defeat.

We hope the statement is not true that the old organization has determined to insist upon June primaries, and to nominate the county ticket which was fixed up some time ago. If such action is taken, with it goes all hope of united Republican party action in the election of county officials. If the slate of candidates in whose interest the June primaries are called is to be put through, the people will repudiate the nominations and another ticket will be put into the field and elected. If the old organization managers adhere to the program of June primaries and a slated ticket they are certain to be defeated at the polls.

A Thorough Investigation.

For several days reports have been in circulation that members of select council had been bribed or that attempts had been made to bribe them, and an investigation has been promised—or, perhaps it would be more accurate to say, has been threatened. It should not stop at that. There should be an investigation of all charges against members of councils and it should be so thorough that at its conclusion it may be said nothing was kept back or concealed. Councilmen owe it to themselves and to the people they represent to take this matter up and make thorough work of it. They should not stop with a mere inquiry into the allegations that members had been offered a valuable consideration for a vote for one or other candidate for the presidency of select council, but should cover the whole field, looking into alleged "holdups" as well as charges of bribery. It should be developed among other things what influences have prevailed against the interest of the business community of Pittsburgh to cause the burial of the Wabash and Pennsylvania railroad ordinances in committee. Pittsburgh business and industrial interests are suffering a serious handicap for want of better shipping facilities. The facilities of the railroads have been unequal to the freight traffic offered by the mills. To better this condition one railroad has for more than a year sought entry to the city and another is seeking to improve its facilities. These proposed improvements are the answer of the railroads to the requirements of the growth and business of the city. Members of councils know this as well as do others, but in spite of their knowledge and of continued pressure the ordinances looking to betterments have been held back for no good reason that is apparent or that has been stated. The community is positively suffering for these improvements, and its progress is blocked while they are delayed. If there is to be an investigation, and there should be one, let this matter be probed to the bottom. The scope of the proposed inquiry should be broadened in the interest of the people of Pittsburgh. We hope there will be no attempt to stifle it or confine it within narrow limits.

One Ray of Hope.

There is at least ground for the hope that something may come from the peace conference at Klerksdorp, since it now appears that Gens. De Wet and Delarey will attend. That ground is the certain knowledge that Great Britain has departed from the inflexible demand for unconditional surrender to the extent of guaranteeing that Boers who lay down their arms will not be deported. That is an important concession from the Boer point of view. It may not satisfy them, but it is an opening for making counter propositions and it may prove the small impulse necessary to get both sides to thinking earnestly of how much is to be gained from peace and how much is to be lost through war.

The civilized world will be glad if the South African war can be ended, be the terms what they may. War under the best of conditions is all the late Gen. W. T. Sherman called it, and it has not been conducted under the best conditions over the wide reaches of the South African veldt. The Boers cannot overthrow the massive power of Great Britain; but Great Britain can gain nothing that will compensate for the cost of exterminating the rugged and wily Afrikanders. Both will be gainers by terms on which they can compromise.

Wise Course for Elkin.

In the elections for delegates to the Republican state convention Mr. Elkin to date has a long lead, and there is little room to question the statement made in his behalf that if he remained in the contest he would be able, with his friends, to control the convention and be nominated for governor. But though delegates favorable to him have been elected at county primaries their election has been accompanied with disquieting symptoms that have been undoubtedly noted by the attorney general and his personal and political friends. What others saw earlier is more apparent now to all, that the real peril to Mr. Elkin's prospects is after and not before or in the convention, and that Republican prospects in congressional and county contests are necessarily involved by his continued candidacy.

The attorney general is a good fighter, of known staying qualities, and no fear for his personal political safety would move him to withdraw now from the contest. Should he decide to leave the race it will be because his interest in the success of party candidates is greater than in the realization of his own ambition. It is apparent that even should he be elected it would be only after a hard fight and at great cost to the party in the local contests. In all probability Mr. Elkin has seen this. He is a campaigner of long experience, accustomed to feeling the public pulse and to reading the political future in present aspects. He will not care to mount to success over the wreck of county and congressional tickets; certainly he will not want to lead them to defeat. These reasons are powerful factors to induce him to forego his ambition.

To Mr. Elkin personally there is no objection. Until Gov. Stone removed Maj. Brown from the Pittsburgh recordership with a postscript accompaniment there was no political objection to him. He was then in the field for the nomination for governor, and was the unchallenged favorite. Unfortunately, however, he failed to disentangle himself from the governor's folly in the only way it could have been done, and thereby he became involved in the popular mind with those acts for which the Stone administration is rightly condemned. To make him the Republican candidate for governor under these circumstances would be to make the party responsible in the mind of the people for the acts of Stone and to repel instead of to attract votes. Had the attorney general retired from Stone's cabinet when the governor committed his monumental act of folly he would have strengthened himself and done the Republican party an estimable service by showing how singularly alone the governor was in his course. But the opportunity passed and there is nothing to do now but face the situation. If the campaign should have to be fought with Stone as the issue the result throughout the state is easily foreseen. It would mean that Republican voters everywhere would stay at home or vote the opposition ticket in sufficient numbers to lose to the Republican party the close congressional districts, and the legislative and county tickets in close counties, and to imperil success in districts and counties ordinarily safe to the Republican party, and this whether Mr. Elkin would win or lose. It is this unfortunate situation that impresses itself on him and may induce him to put aside for the party welfare the seeming certainty of a nomination.

It is unfortunate for Mr. Elkin that political conditions are such that he cannot go before the voters on his own merits. Whenever he has done so he has given a good account of himself. But things being as they are there is but one wise course, and we will be glad to hear that Mr. Elkin has chosen it. He is a young man, and if he makes a sacrifice of his wishes for the good of the Republican party it will be remembered to his credit in the future. There is too much at stake, as he perhaps now sees, to press his own claims for preferment at the present time, and he will deserve well of his party by not pressing them.

For a Cleaner City.

The allied women's clubs of Pittsburgh have the backing of the public in their demand for cleaner streets and a better system of garbage collection. Patience has ceased to be a virtue, and the women but voice general indignation in their protests against the existing conditions. For a long time the streets and alleys of Pittsburgh, with a few downtown exceptions, have been in a disgraceful state, and there has been no beneficial result whatever from many promises of improvement. Spasmodic efforts are made to keep the main thoroughfares in the business district in passable shape, but as a rule the streets and alleys are dependent upon rain for the washing away of accumulations of filth. In the matter of cleanliness our city is far behind other municipalities of its size and importance, and the blame rests upon those who have supervision over the highways.

The present miserable method of garbage collection is another grievance of long standing, and one which has been prolific in evoking protests from all sections of the city. Complaints innumerable have been made to the authorities, but, as in the case of the filthy streets, they have been unheeded. Garbage is removed whenever the collectors please to do so, and it often happens that the cans are so long neglected that they become nuisances in the neighborhoods where the odors are blown about by the wind. The public health is menaced by this neglect, to say nothing of the annoyance that is occasioned, and it has long been evident, both to the eye and the nose, that there is urgent need of a satisfactory system for the disposal of household refuse. Now that the women have taken up the cudgels, and with the hearty support of a long-suffering public, there is reason for hoping that the crusade will result in a cleaner—a much cleaner city.

One of the most pernicious pests with which the police have to deal, or, unfortunately, fail to deal, is the facetious individual who sends in a false alarm. His prank causes an immense amount of trouble and has its dangerous as well as annoying side. Unfortunately, the telephone facilitates his operations and practically renders impossible his discovery. The firemen cannot stay to investigate the reliability of a telephone message. That would be dangerous. It is even better to act on a suspicious alarm than to assume it is false, or to delay turning out in order to investigate. The fool who causes all this bother will inevitably be caught if he continues. If he is discovered it is to be hoped that no matter what he is or who he is that he will be prosecuted to the last letter of the law.

The governors of the Carolinas were together at Charleston Wednesday in honor of the president, but the recording angels of the daily papers are silent as to whether any hair of the dog was in demand yesterday.

Mr. Bryan has been so kind as to suggest to the New York Democrats who they should nominate for governor. It is needless to say that the gentleman's name is not Hill.

Those persons who missed an opportunity to contribute to the Stone ransom fund may now ease their consciences by buying a few lecture tickets.

It is no joke that Mark Twain has paid $47,500 for a home near Tarrytown, N. Y., but much wit and humor paved the way for the purchase.

Our coronation commissioners might save expenses by patronizing the penny bun departments of the English metropolis.

The gentlemen who are predicting a cool summer are discreetly keeping out of the way of the summer resort agents.

THE STATE PRESS.

The fact that we are eating dead meat these days does not imply venison; not at all.—Pittston Gazette.

Tickling pretty girls under the chin is a pastime in which school teachers and pastors may not indulge with safety.—Scranton Republican.

It is alleged that a Franklin man who intended investing in some Texas gusher stock had a lucky escape. His wife robbed his safe.—Franklin News.

President Roosevelt has honored Frank Sargent in appointing him commissioner of immigration, but it is a question whether the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen will regard the selection of their chief as a compliment on the part of the president or a desertion on Sargent's part.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

The Daily Times has been warmly commended by many Kittanning Republicans for the stand it has taken in the nomination of county officers. They say they have grown disgusted with ring rule and misadministration of public affairs, and agree with the Times that the example set in Pittsburgh should be followed in this county.—Kittanning Times.

Indications point to the nomination of Gov. Pattison as the standard-bearer of his party in the coming campaign. The evident intention of the Harrisburg administration to foist a machine candidate on the Republican ticket has strengthened the demand for Mr. Pattison as candidate, and a Pittsburgh newspaper quotes him this week as willing to enter the list.—Oil City Blizzard.

Recorder Brown of Pittsburgh has failed in all his attempts to make deals to save his organization. The difficulty is he has nothing to deal with. He can offer nothing to his opponents in Pittsburgh without going back on Gov. Stone, and the governor still has the power to change the recorder three times a day if he sees fit. In such a dilemma anybody would suppose the recorder would settle down and attend to his official business, letting the rest take care of itself.—Philadelphia Press.

If Judge Frazer's instructions are carried out by those to whom he grants license this year, Braddock avenue will have less the appearance, so far as sound is concerned, of a midway, during the coming summer evenings. A number of local applicants were questioned as to the practice of having music and various attractions in their bar rooms and told they must dispense with all schemes to draw custom.—Braddock Herald.

Fayette county has 9,000 Republican votes, Greene county has 2,500. Yet Greene county conferees at Thursday's conference wanted their county to have the same voice as Fayette in the nomination of congressional candidates. That would be unequal representation. Fayette has five delegates to the state convention and Greene one. Greene has the same right to equal representation with Fayette in the state convention to nominate a candidate for governor as she has in the district convention to nominate a candidate for congress. There is absolutely no difference in the principle involved.—Uniontown News Standard.

IN THE SMALL TOWNS.

Some boys about town are going to pay the penalty for petty thieving some of these days if they don't desist, and the sooner the better.—Waynesburg Messenger.

Just why any person should commit suicide in Oil City is not apparent, unless it might be because of fear that he might be compelled to move elsewhere.—Oil City Blizzard.

"I wish somebody else who owes me would hit me a crack," was the queer remark made by a Meadville man yesterday as he paid the costs and withdrew the charge in an assault and battery case he had started before a local justice of the peace. When the man swore out the warrant he stated that he had dunned a debtor and received, instead of money, a blow. It would appear from what the creditor said when he paid the costs that the other fellow had decided that the cheapest way out of the mess was to pay the bill and thus stop the assault and battery proceedings.—Meadville Tribune.

At this age of the world when humans are supposed to be becoming human and civilization civilized, people will be shocked to learn of the treatment Officer Cope accords several prisoners he has in his charge. In the first place he gives them nothing but river water to drink and a dog could not eat the food they get. This is not all, however, for when he takes them out of the lockup he leads them through the streets with halters about their heads. Mr. Cope is no doubt a good officer and has always been considered a very good fellow and the above statements, which are absolutely true in every particular, will seem incredulous to his many friends. Still there are mitigating circumstances, and, after all, the reader will not be so badly shocked when the further fact is stated that the two prisoners are two horses that Mr. Cope is keeping for the sheriff till the question of ownership is decided.—Brownsville Monitor.

THE MURDER OF M'AULIFFE REMAINS A MYSTERY

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, April 10.

Contradictory stories about the McAuliffe case appear in the different papers here today. It will be remembered that McAuliffe was found dead one Sunday morning in Sixth avenue, and that the police of the Forty-seventh street police station are suspected by some persons of having clubbed him to death. Two witnesses looked the police of this station over today and identified three of them as having acted in such a way on the day McAuliffe was found that they might be suspected of knowing something about his injuries. One of these witnesses is an ex-convict and the other is regarded by the district attorney as unreliable. It looks to the average observer as if the case against the policemen has fallen through. District Attorney Jerome said today that unless he could get better evidence against the police than he has now, he could not send the cases of the suspected men to the grand jury. A paper that has been working up the case against the police, with its own reporters as special detectives, declares that the witnesses today have established a guilty knowledge of the victim's death on the part of the police, and that the paper has done a great work in solving the murder mystery. It does not look, to the man in the street, as if the solution has been reached yet, in spite of the hysterical self-gratulation of this particular newspaper. McAuliffe may have been murdered, but nothing has been developed yet to show who murdered him. That is the judgment of the district attorney and Police Commissioner Partridge, and it seems as if the offering of rewards and digging up of clews might continue indefinitely. The case is one that should be cleared up in the name of humanity and the safety of New York's citizens, but like many another mystery of crime in this great metropolis, it never may be.

New Sensation on 'Change.

There was a whooping time in the New York stock exchange today that made the flurry in the cotton exchange yesterday look like a game of ping-pong. Louisville & Nashville took the bit in its teeth and rampaged upward to a point where it satisfied the manipulators, among whom, according to the talk on 'change, are several Pittsburgh men. There were a good many ups and downs in the course of the day, and the excitement never ceased for a moment. There may be more of it tomorrow, or, on the other hand, it may be merely a skyrocket explosion that whizzed itself out on the first day.

Some of Gotham's Annoyances.

No wonder residents of Fifth avenue are ready to jump nervously at every sudden noise. Yesterday two 16-foot scantlings went through the skylight of an art gallery near the Waldorf-Astoria, smashing 500 panes of glass and injuring two persons. Today a block of granite, weighing 800 pounds, broke away from the crane that was swinging it 15 stories high, and crashed through the roof of James Everard, the millionaire brewer. It destroyed a $3,000 skylight, narrowly missed killing the little daughter of the house, and frightened a maid nearly out of her wits. What is the use of being a multi-millionaire and living in the swellest part of town, if timbers and stones can come tumbling upon you at any time of the day? The stone today fell from the new Astor skyscraping hotel and Mr. Everard has said that he will get out an injunction stopping further work, on the building unless steps are taken to protect his property and the lives of his household. And, when you come to think of it, you cannot blame Mr. Everard for being annoyed.

Pennsylvanians to Meet.

The Pennsylvania Society of New York will hold its annual meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria on Tuesday. After the election of officers it will have a "smoker" and talk over Pennsylvania politics, as its custom is.

Grace Church Extension.

Grace church has arranged to enlarge its quarters in Fourth avenue, at the back of the church edifice itself, which faces on Broadway and is one of the picturesque landmarks just below Union square. Grace church parish house is as important as the church, however, in its way, and it needs more room for its operations. The plans filed today at the bureau of buildings show that the extension in Fourth avenue will be 58.7 feet front by 76.11 feet deep and five stories high. It will cost $125,000.

Newspaper Fraternity Honored.

There was excitement along Park row this afternoon when it was known that a newspaper man had been offered and had accepted the post of first assistant postmaster general of the United States. Robert J. Wynne, the appointee, is well known to Printing House square, although, as Washington correspondent of the Press, he has not been much in New York of late years. He is an expert telegrapher. There is nothing unusual in newspaper men holding high positions in the government, as history shows; but as Wynne is one of the fraternity whom everyone knows there is rather more pleasure expressed by his fellow-workers than otherwise might be the case.

Combined Theater and Hotel.

When the new theater is built at Sixty-fifth street and Broadway, to which I referred yesterday, there will be a 15-story hotel in connection with it. The latest information is that the theater entrance will be in the hotel building, and that the two institutions will be conducted together, in that there will be mutual accommodation for the guests of the hotel and the patrons of the theater. If you are sojourning at the hotel and want to go to the theater you will be able to get into the playhouse without going to the street at all, and when you come out between the acts you can step handily into the cafe, if you are a man, or to a splendid boudoir if you are a woman, and enjoy all the comforts of refreshments to enable you to endure the next act of the play. The plans of the hotel and theater are still in embryo and the persons interested financially in the enterprise will not say much about them; but the details here given are common property and have not been denied by the owners of the property. When this new theater and hotel are in existence Empire square, which is the name of the broad space where Broadway and Columbus avenue intersect, will be as gay as Herald square and Longacre square are at the present.

Police Watching for Kneipp Barefeet.

Park policemen at Central park are on the lookout for the votaries of the Kneipp cure, but none have appeared so far. These enthusiasts, who have faith in the prescription of Dr. Kneipp of walking in the dewy grass with bare feet in the early morning, have not courage enough to try it in the weather New York has had for the last week or two. Rain, wind and threats of snow are not favorable to hygienic treatment of this kind. The policemen are expecting the Kneipp contingent every morning, however. As one of them said this afternoon: "You can't scare them people with a cold morning, but they ain't lookin' for pneumony by hoofing it in de grass when there is frost only jist out o' sight."

Welcome for an Austrian Visitor.

Austrians and Hungarians in this city are making arrangements to give a banquet to the officers of the Austrian cruiser Szigetvar, which came to this port from Baltimore today. The interest in the Szigetvar is due largely to the fact that she has just come up from Mexico and is the first Austrian ship to visit that country since Maximilian's time.

Kid Thrice Married to Same Girl.

Kid McCoy is married again. This is his third offense, and he has married the same girl each time. It was expected that the coy Miss Julia Woodruff would find it impossible to withstand the temptation of possessing the black, woolly dog which Kid brought back from Paris, to say nothing of the big roll of 500-franc notes he had as a peace offering, but they were married today at Union Hill, N. J., and the joy bells are tinkling at the McCoy cafe at Fortieth street and Broadway.

White Mates Yellow.

A white girl was married to a Chinaman in City hall today. The bride was Miss Mary McDonald of New York and the bridegroom Charlie Jong of Boston, a very wealthy man. The young woman has been a missionary among Chinamen in California, and while there fell in love with Jong. He moved to Boston and she came to New York to be near her fiance. Alderman Florence conducted the marriage ceremony, which was in accordance with the law and devoid of any picturesque features, excepting that, when the bridegroom was asked to produce the wedding ring, he brought forth a ring set with a large diamond worth $200, which was used to bind the contract. Jong wears Chinese costume usually, but today, to please his bride, he appeared in a blue suit of American garments, topped off with a white hat.

New Ocean Leviathan.

The new British steamship Indramayo arrived today from Greenock. The Indramayo's dimensions are 410 feet length, 43 feet beam and 32 feet 4 inches depth. Her net tonnage is 5,370. She was built by C. Connell & Co. of Scotstown for T. B. Royden of Liverpool. She will load for China.

A Child Musical Genius.

A music critic of this city, whose observations are treated with considerable respect, has found a phenomenal pianist in the shape of a young girl, who has not been heard of yet, but who will be. This is the way the critic describes it. He says: "When Josef Hoffman goes up to New York College of Music, which he frequently does late in the afternoon or in the evening, to play quite undisturbed and by himself, he is likely to find there a young—one might almost say, a small—girl, since she is only 15, who may some day turn out a fair running mate to his genius, though, perhaps, in a different way. He, himself, having heard her play her own compositions, has pronounced them wonderful. Her name is Elsie Breit, and she came to Alexander Lambert not long ago with a letter of introduction from Theodore Thomas, with whom she had been playing—not studying, mind you—in Chicago. This fact alone indicates that she plays well, but it is in composition that she shows her greatest talent. Having had, as yet, almost no instruction in harmony or counterpoint, she seems to have an intuitive perception of their fundamentals, so that the mistakes she makes are not grave ones, and, to quote Mr. Lambert, who is educating her and who looks forward to great accomplishment for her in the future, 'She is that rarest of composers among women, one who has actually something to say—something beyond her years, unusual and of real worth and importance.'"

Fauntleroy's Author and Impersonator

Considerable comment is heard tonight on the sad coincidence that Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, who wrote "Little Lord Fauntleroy," and Elsie Leslie, who first played the character in this country, are both seriously ill. It is feared that Miss Leslie will not recover, and Mrs. Burnett is not so dangerously ill, although she is so prostrated by neuritis that great anxiety has been felt about her. Mrs. Burnett has written several successes since she did Fauntleroy, and has been busy with her pen for a number of years. Elsie Leslie is a grown-up leading woman of distinction and was recently married.

Ferris Wheel for Coney.

It is said now that Coney Island is really to have the Ferris wheel. It has been talked about at intervals for many weeks, but it is said that arrangements actually have been made for transporting the big machine from Chicago, and that it will cost $150,000 to do it. The Ferris wheel is advertised as a Coney Island attraction for this summer, and people who are dizzy from looking at the loop can switch over to the Ferris wheel and get a new sensation. It is estimated that 10,000,000 people have swung around the wheel while it has been in Chicago.

Horsey Plays.

Since Boucicault wrote "The Flying Scud," many years ago, there have been hundreds of racing dramas turned out by playwrights. Some of them have been successful, and some have not. "In Old Kentucky," which was first produced in Pittsburgh about 10 years ago, probably has made more money than any other horsey drama written, and the author, Charles T. Dazey, said recently that he had received from Jacob Litt no less than $100,000 in royalties. Now Dazey has written another horse drama, called "The Suburban," which is in rehearsal here, and which is expected to make as big a hit as "In Old Kentucky."

Proposed Children's Court.

Mayor Low today listened to a number of well-known lawyers who advocated the establishing of a "children's court" as a new branch of the court of special sessions. Their arguments are those that have been heard before, and which are acknowledged to be forcible. The contention is that children brought up for slight offenses are brought into contact with old criminals under the present system. The "children's court" is likely to become an institution of Greater New York before very long. The mayor approves a bill for this new court.

PERSONALS.

"The harbor improvement that is most needed on the great lakes at present is the widening and deepening of the channel through the St. Clair flats," said C. L. Sprague of Cincinnati at the Union station last night. Mr. Sprague is traveling passenger agent for the Detroit & Cleveland steamship line and has spent much of the past two seasons on the lakes. "When one thinks of the enormous tonnage that goes through the flats each year," continued Mr. Sprague, "the government's appropriations to improve the channel seem ridiculously small." The Detroit & Cleveland company is preparing to install its new direct Detroit-Buffalo service about the first of the month. Two handsome new steamers have been completed, the Western States and the Eastern States. The trip will be made direct, without any stop at Cleveland, which will cut off at least 12 hours from the lake trip. The passenger business on the upper lakes has opened unusually early this year.

The Hon. F. W. Hannas of Newark, president of the New York State Retail Grocers' association, passed through Pittsburgh on the Pennsylvania limited last night, en route to Chicago to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the national association. The meeting opens today. Pittsburgh will be represented at the meeting. One of the matters that the committee will act upon is the sugar tariff. If the present tariff measure goes through, Mr. Hannahs says, there will be an immediate drop in sugar, which will reach the consumer within a week or two.

The first annual reception and supper of Columbia association No. 15, National Association of Stationary Engineers of Pittsburgh, was held last night at the Monongahela house. The attendance was more than 300, including the wives and friends of the members. A musical program occupied the early part of the evening, followed by an address by the former national president, Herbert E. Stone of Boston. The supper lasted from 8 until 10, at which hour the ladies met and organized an auxiliary. Dancing continued until 2 a. m.

The West Penn Hospital Resident Physicians' association, composed of the resident physicians at the hospital for the past 28 years, held a smoker in the parlors of the Henry last night—the last meeting of the year. About 40 physicians were present. The organization is a year old and the former officers were re-elected for another year. They are: President, Dr. J. W. MacFarlane; first vice president, Dr. E. Montgomery; second vice president, Dr. L. A. Hazzard; secretary, Dr. J. M. Jackson; treasurer, Dr. E. B. Haworth.

Senator Benjamin R. Tillman of South Carolina was at the Union station for a few minutes last evening between trains. He had been in Oil City on business connected with some recent purchases of oil land in which he is interested, and came through Pittsburgh on the return trip, seeing one or two business friends here. Senator Tillman absolutely refused to discuss the reception given the president at Charleston this week. He occupied most of his time about Union station in dodging the reporters.

Former Lieut.-Gov. Asa W. Jones of Youngstown, O., was at the Monongahela last night. Gen. Jones is greatly encouraged with the recruiting that has been done within the past month in the Sons of Veterans' organization, particularly in the west. "It is a hopeful sign," he said, "that, as the ranks of the Grand Army of the Republic are being slowly thinned by death, the sons of the old soldiers are coming into the younger organization in greater and greater numbers."

Dr. John Inglis of Claysville, Pa., who was one of the legation physicians at Peking during the siege of two years ago, was in the city between trains last night, en route to Colorado for his health. He had made all preparations to return to Peking, sailing on the 17th inst., but on the advice of his physician he decided to postpone the trip indefinitely. Dr. Inglis has been in broken health ever since he passed through the six weeks' awful ordeal in the Peking legation.

"With materials and labor still soaring, varnishes are about due to go up another notch in price," said J. A. Shepard, a large varnish manufacturer of New York, at the Victoria last night. "There is no combination in the varnish trade, but prices are very uniform, and, as a rule, vary little. There will have to be a general advance soon, however, from present prospects."

Col. J. C. Stout of St. Paul is at the Seventh avenue. He was called here by negotiations with the newly reorganized Thunder Mountain Mining Company. The company contemplates installing in its Idaho property an electric light and power plant, costing possibly $350,000.

B. F. Burchfield, a prominent oil man of Titusville, and B. Rosenthal, a well-known Titusville politician, registered at the Victoria last night.

NEW CHURCH IN PROSPECT.

Hazelwood Baptists Have Determined That a New Home Is Necessary for Members of Faith.

At a meeting of the Baptists of Hazelwood and Glenwood held last Sunday in Kohne's hall, Hazelwood, nearly 80 per cent of the congregation of the Fourth avenue Baptist church withdrew and formed an independent Baptist church for that district. The organization of the Glenwood and Hazelwood districts had been a matter of thought for several months before last Sunday's meeting. Nearly 80 per cent of the members of the Fourth avenue church live in and about Hazelwood, and began to find the Fourth church too far for the little ones.

The church is the outgrowth of a Bible school which was started in March, 1901, and which has done much good in that vicinity. Preaching services have been held in Kohne's hall since December last. Hereafter the newly organized body will hold services in the hall of the Hazelwood Savings & Trust company until such time as a suitable building is erected. The Bible school will meet at 9:30 Sunday morning. The Rev. Mr. Pritchard, superintendent of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny missions, will conduct the services.

Her Advice.

Young Lady—A friend of mine is engaged to a man, and now he refuses to marry her. What would you advise her to do?

Old Lawyer—Is the man wealthy?

Young Lady—No; he hasn't a shilling.

Old Lawyer—Then I'd advise her to write him a nice letter of thanks.—London Tit-Bits.

WHERE ENGLAND GAINS.

American Manufacturers Who Begin By Exporting to England Now Starting Factories There.

From the London Mail.

Foreign manufacturers who find a good market in this country for their products often learn in time that it pays them better to manufacture here for the whole Europe. The latest illustration of this is seen in the proposal to build big works in Birmingham, with a capital of £200,000, for the manufacture of the Locke sprocket link chain, an article up to now imported from the United States. American manufacturers have been specially ready in starting works in this country, in the chemical trade Burroughs & Wellcome have now a great plant here. In printing, Messrs. Hoe now make their machines in England. In electricity the British Westinghouse Company and the General Electric Company of New York are both putting up considerable premises. In car building the Brill Company has come. These are only a few out of many.

The incoming of foreign firms is only as yet at its commencement. There are obvious advantages for American manufacturers to carry on their work here for Europe rather than in their own land. In numbers of cases, however, American manufacturers have been deterred from coming to this country on account of the attitude assumed by British labor toward improved methods. But this attitude is so rapidly changing for the better that it will not much longer bar the way.

Mr. J. C. Stewart, whose records with British labor in the erection of the British Westinghouse works at Manchester have made him the most talked-of man in the industrial world today, is not, as has generally been supposed a member of the Westinghouse organization, but is the head of a prominent American construction company. Messrs. J. C. and A. M. Stewart of St. Louis, Pittsburgh, and New Orleans. Mr. Stewart is an engineer by profession, and, judging by the importances and scope of his operations, he is to the constructive engineer of America what Sir John Aird is to those of Great Britain. He builds bridges, dams, locks, docks, hotels, manufactories, canals, and railroads with equal facility. He has a record for getting things done in time, and is likely soon to stir up our master builders and contractors as much as he has already stirred up our men.

It is noteworthy that his first contract in England, the Westinghouse work, was co-existent with his first in this country. In carrying it out, he has not only made a record unparalleled here, but has also given proof that the British workman can do as much and as well and in as little time as the American, if you pay him well and know how to manage him. Mr. Stewart returns to America at the end of April on the expiration of his contract with the Westinghouse Company, from which we have probably not heard the last of him here.

THE MEAT PROBLEM.

It Can Be Solved by Not Eating Too Much.

From the Washington Post.

When the price of meat soars to such an altitude that it is practically beyond the reach of the masses, unless they dispense entirely with thrift and live in for reckless extravagance, is there no remedy? Whether the phenomenal soaring be the result of natural or artificial causes, or a combination of the two, is there not a way by which the price can be reduced and held permanently at a lower level? The easiest, simplest and surest way to cheapen the market price of any commodity is to diminish consumption of it. Cannot this method be adopted with meat? Can it not be adopted without injury to health or any deterioration of physique?

There are many authorities who answer that question with a hearty, resonant "yes." We do not refer especially to the vegetarians, although their testimony, resulting from experience, is well worthy of consideration. Outside of their ranks, among physicians and laymen in every occupation and of no occupation, there is a widely prevalent belief that Americans eat too much meat, too much for both physical and mental welfare, and that, therefore, a material reduction of their consumption of carnivorous food would produce a higher average of bodily health and intellectual achiev

MEETING WAS OF MORE THAN USUAL INTEREST

WANT MORE SECRETARIES

Organization's Condition on the Pacific Coast and in New England Is So Flourishing That Closer Attention Is Needed.

The midyear meeting of the national council of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew held yesterday in the national offices in the Conestoga building was the most representative meeting that has been held in years, every member of the council taking an active interest, either in person or by written opinions, on the subjects that were brought up before the gathering. Two sessions were held, Henry D. W. English, president of the Brotherhood, being in the chair. Reports from the national secretaries, Hubert Carleton and Edgar G. Criswell, were read and tended to show a remarkable growth of the organization in every state in the union.

A communication was read from the Pacific coast and New England branches requesting that associate resident secretaries be appointed in those districts, as the chapters had grown so within the past few years as to require the services of a permanent secretary.

Referred to a Committee.

This matter was referred to an executive committee appointed earlier in the day by President English. Those on this committee are: John E. Baird, Philadelphia; James Houghteling, Chicago; Francis H. Holmes, New York; Ewing L. Miller, Philadelphia; Francis J. Weber, Detroit; William C. Sturgis, New Haven. The committee met later in the day and organized by electing J. L. Houghteling chairman and Edgar Criswell secretary. The executive committee is empowered to consider and act on all questions relative to the general welfare of the Brotherhood.

An interesting feature of the meeting was the compiling of the program for the national convention in Boston next October. The convention will be held in Symphony hall, one of the finest halls in Boston.

Program Was Approved.

R. H. Gardiner, New England representative, read a program for the sessions of the convention, and it was approved with a few amendments. The afternoon session was largely taken up with the convention program. Ewing L. Miller, chairman of the committee in charge of the junior department, made a favorable report of the work in this connection. At the conclusion of the business session the members were entertained at dinner at the residence of Mr. English.

At a special meeting of the Men's club of the Shady avenue church last night E. C. Denton, a member of the council, made an address. The midyear meeting will close tonight with a mass meeting in Calvary Protestant Episcopal church.

WEDDED BLAINE'S NIECE.

Charles Epps Lipscomb Soon Will Bring His Bride to Pittsburgh.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10.—(Special.)—Miss Mary Gillespie Blaine, daughter of Mrs. Robert Blaine of this city, and a niece of the late James G. Blaine, was married to Charles Epps Lipscomb of Pittsburgh, Pa., at 7 o'clock this evening in St. Peter's Roman Catholic church in the presence of more than 200 guests. The Rev. Father V. F. Schmitt, assisted by the Rev. Father P. C. Gavin, officiated. The ushers were Charles Byrne of Virginia, Edward W. Callahan, Aubrey L. Clark, Wilson A. Graham and Harry A. Latimer. Rev. P. C. Blaine was best man.

The bride wore a handsome gown of cream satin and lace. Her veil was held by a cluster of orange blossoms. Her sisters, the Misses Claude and Nina Blaine, were the attendants. Miss Maude Blaine wore a gown of yellow organdie over silk. She carried an arm bouquet of Jacqueminot roses. Miss Nina Blaine wore pink organdie over taffeta and carried La France roses.

After the wedding ceremony a small reception followed for the bridal party and the immediate family of the bride and groom at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Blaine.

Mr. Lipscomb is a member of a distinguished Virginia family of that name. After a short wedding tour Mr. Lipscomb will take his bride to Pittsburgh, where he is now in business.

SOCIETY

THE most brilliant society event of the spring season was the marriage last night of Miss Helen, daughter of Judge Harry White of Indiana, Pa., and Charles Edmund Beeson of Pittsburgh. The ceremony was performed in Christ Episcopal church, Indiana, by the Rev. Dr. George Rogers, rector of the church, and was attended by over 250 guests, of whom a great many were from out of town.

The ceremony began at 6:30 and the church edifice had been handsomely decorated for the occasion with southern smilax, ferns and white roses, banked in effective fashion. The matron of honor was Mrs. Julian Hearne of Wheeling and the maid of honor Miss Matilda Bowman of Uniontown. The bridesmaids were Miss Katherine MacIntyre of McKeesport and Miss Katherine Beeson of Uniontown, a sister of the groom. The bride's nieces, Misses Lena and Katherine Hitchcock, and her cousin, Miss Helen White Sutton of Allegheny, were the flower girls. The groom was attended by Wallace Rowe of Pittsburgh as best man and Daniel Cooper, Benjamin Howells and Charles Harrah of Uniontown and Harry White, Jr., a brother of the bride, were ushers. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Charlotte Clark of Indiana, as the bridal party advanced to the altar, the Recessional and "Narcissus" while the ceremony was in progress and the Mendelssohn march as the united couple left the chancel.

The bride wore a princess gown of duchesse satin, trimmed in pointe and duchesse lace. Her tulle veil was held in place by a diamond double-star pin, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor, Mrs. Julian Green Hearne of Wheeling, W. Va., wore her own wedding gown of white silk crepe, trimmed in duchesse lace. This gown was worn at the bride's special request, Mrs. Hearne having been a June bride a year ago, Miss White being the maid of honor. Mrs. Hearne wore a hat trimmed in pink June roses and a tulle boa trimmed with the same flowers, and carried a tulle muff with June roses.

The maid of honor wore a gown of white silk tulle trimmed in ecru lace and white satin ribbon and carried white roses. The bridesmaids' gowns were white over pink and they carried pink roses. The maid of honor and maids wore white tulle veils.

Miss Sutton, one of the flower girls, wore pink and carried a basket of sweet peas, and the Misses Hitchcock, the other two flower girls, wore white organdie over pink and carried baskets of sweet peas.

The decorations of the church and of Croylands, the home of Judge and Mrs. White, were very handsome, consisting of palms and ferns, with numberless pink and white roses and carnations.

After the ceremony a reception was given at Croylands, which 130 of the guests attended. The bride and bridegroom left Indiana on a special train at 10 o'clock accompanied by the bridal party, who sped them on their honeymoon trip at Blairsville intersection, where the happy couple took a train for the east, the rest of the party returning to Indiana. An extensive wedding trip will be taken throughout the south and visits will be made to America's new possessions in the West Indies and other Caribbean islands.

Both the bride and bridegroom are members of old and well-known families of Western Pennsylvania. Miss White is a social belle and is the second daughter of Judge and Mrs. Harry White. Her family was among the earnest settlers in Indiana. The bridegroom, whose former home was in Uniontown, is well known socially, and is a rising young business man in the steel industry of Pittsburgh, being secretary and treasurer of the Pittsburgh Steel Company. He is a graduate of Yale, while the bride was educated at Ogontz.

Among the out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were the following: Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Rowe, W. H. Rowe and family, George and Frank F. Nicola, George Bindley, Dr. J. P. Laughlin, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Huston and William Montgomery, all of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Mary Boyd of Wilkinsburg, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Sutton, Allegheny; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Huston, Columbus; Miss Angelina Whiten, New York; the following party from Uniontown: Mrs. J. K. Beeson, mother of the bridegroom; F. B. Huston and family, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Howell, Mrs. M. H. Bowman, Mrs. L. T. Nicholls, Miss Fuller, Miss Vi Mead and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Rankin, Jessie Kerr of Parker, Fred Chandler of Philadelphia.

Miss Bostwick's Studio Tea.

Miss Jane Bostwick gave a tea yesterday afternoon at the studios in Dilworth hall, Pennsylvania College for Women. Miss Bostwick is director of art at the college and the guests who crowded the studios during the afternoon included many of her personal friends and friends of the college and the students. The hours were from 2 o'clock until 5.

The studio was especially pretty yesterday afternoon. It is a large apartment with high windows in Dilworth hall. Its plain walls terminate in a frieze covered with Japanese designs and afford much space for the hanging of pictures. Much of the work of the art students was exhibited beside some of Miss Bostwick's own, including a couple of portraits upon which she has been working the past winter and which are exceptionally good.

A couple of tea tables added to the charm of the studio yesterday, one being presided over by Miss Grace Bostwick, a sister of the hostess, and Miss Elizabeth Robb. At the other were a number of the students at the college. Miss Edith Jenkins, Miss Elizabeth Hemphill and Miss Aschman. A number of artists and well-known lovers of art were at the tea and were much interested in the work exhibited.

A Birthday Reception.

One of the daintiest receptions of the week was that at the home of Mrs. Slack-Davis, in Margaretta street, Wednesday night, tendered to her sister, Miss Eva Goldsworthy Carter of London, England, on her 21st birthday. Only a few friends of the family were present. Those receiving were: Mrs. Davis, Miss Mackin of Crafton and Miss Carter. The drawing room was decorated with Jacqueminat roses and the ball room with smilax and carnations.

The reception was doubly interesting to the friends of the family, as Mrs. Davis leaves for England the latter part of the month to be gone all summer.

Song Recital at the Schenley.

A very appreciative audience listened to the song recital given last evening in the music room of the Schenley. Donald Chalmers, the popular young baritone soloist at the North Presbyterian church, sang, assisted by Miss Isabel Hauser, a brilliant pianist from Eastern Ohio, who has been meeting with much success the past winter in Washington, D. C. The program was very enjoyable, both soloists contributing charm and brilliancy to the performance. Mr. Chalmers' voice is fresh and strong and he appeared to great advantage last evening in the "Vision Fair" by Massanet and the well-known "Toreador Song" from "Carmen." In the second half of the recital he sang the beautiful song cycle by Von Fielitz, portraying the love of a monk for a young nun, and the rebuke which was administered by his superior. His voice has a fine sympathetic quality.

Miss Hauser's playing was a great delight, her technique and her personal charm combining to give her work a very pleasing character. Among her best numbers were MacDowell's "Sea Pieces" and a group of compositions by Chopin, showing brilliancy of performance and fine interpretative qualities. Miss Hauser has been meeting with great success the past winter and has played at musicales at the White House when the president and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained their friends, at Mrs. Westinghouse's, Mrs. Carroll Mercer's and others. Her musical training was received principally in Germany, where she studied under Barth in Berlin.

The recital last evening was conducted with a long list of patrons and patronesses, insuring it a strong social as well as musical following.

Oakley—Moran.

The wedding of Mrs. Mabel Scaich Oakley and William Joseph Moran of New York took place on Wednesday evening, April 9, at 8 o'clock at the residence of the bride's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Scaich, in Riverside Drive, New York. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. A. Stein of Paterson, N. J., and the Rev. Dr. A. E. Kittridge of New York, in the presence of only the immediate family friends. The ceremony was followed by a large reception from 8 o'clock until 12, for which 1,000 invitations were issued. During the wedding and reception the Hungarian band in native costume played in the large English reception hall. The house was decorated with a wealth of palms and ferns and pink and white roses and lilies. In the dining room daffodils and carnations were combined.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white satin with pointe lace medallions over rose-colored satin and chiffon. The gown was finished with a deep yoke of pointe lace. The bride carried a bouquet of white orchids. Her only attendant was Miss Kittie Moran, the youngest sister of the bridegroom, who wore white chiffon and carried pink roses. P. Tecumseh Sherman, a son of Gen. Sherman, was the best man. The bride's little son, Herford Scaich Oakley, appeared in a Russian suit of pink corded silk and Mrs. Scaich wore an imported gown of white satin embroidered by hand, with forget-me-nots and small pink roses of ribbon with jeweled dewdrops.

After their extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Moran will live with Mrs. Moran's parents. Mr. Moran is well-known in New York city. He is assistant secretary to Mayor Seth Low and is a lawyer for well-known corporations.

Cooper—Lawrence.

One of the prettiest home weddings of the season in Bellevue was that of Miss Jean Nevin Cooper and Edward August Lawrence, which took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents in Sprague avenue. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cooper. She was educated at Wellesley college, and is a graduate of Miss Gibson's school in Philadelphia. The ceremony, which took place at 8:30 o'clock, was performed by the Rev. Dr. Thomas Lawrence of Ashville, N. C., the father of the bridegroom, who was assisted by the Rev. George Robinson, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Allegheny. Miss Helen Cooper, the sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Lee Clark Beatty of Allegheny was the best man.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white renaissance lace over point d'esprit and silk. Her bouquet was of white roses. The maid of honor wore white pointe d'esprit over white silk, with bodice of real lace, and carried pink roses. About 150 invitations had been issued for the wedding and the reception which followed, and the young couple left afterward on an extended wedding tour. The house was decorated throughout with palms and southern smilax, and the lights were rose-shaded. The hall and library were in green, the drawing room in pink and the dining room in white and green.

On their return from their wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence will make their home in Sharpsburg. The bride has been the honor guest at a number of social affairs during the past week, among them a luncheon given Wednesday by Miss Rodgers of Bellevue, and a "kitchen shower" last Saturday evening by the young girls of the club of which she was a member.

Reception in the East End.

Mrs. Joseph G. Walter and her sister, Mrs. William Wallace, received yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter in South Negley avenue, East End. The reception hours were from 2 o'clock until 4, and from 4 until 6, the invitations to the reception and tea comprising almost the entire acquaintance of both hostesses, 500 cards having been issued. Miss Helen Walter received with her mother and aunt. Assisting them was a group of ladies, including Mrs. Henry D. Lindsay, Mrs. Samuel W. Willock, Mrs. Thomas Evans, Mrs. A. P. Burchfield, Mrs. Robert Ferree, Mrs. J. J. Speck, Mrs. John R. Redman, Mrs. John D. Findley, Mrs. D. C. Ripley, Mrs. Frank W. Smith, Mrs. W. H. Smith, Mrs. Henry Clay Blair, Mrs. John D. Biggert, Mrs. Robert S. Smith, Miss McMillan and Miss Emma Kelly.

It was a very large and handsomely appointed affair. The afternoon reception was followed by a dinner at 7 for the assisting ladies and several other guests and an equal number of gentlemen, swelling the dinner guests to over 50. The decorations which served to enhance the beauty of the house displayed most of the early spring flowers. In the drawing room, where the hostesses received, were palms and white lilies. The large reception hall was brilliant with the color of many American Beauty roses, while palms and ferns furnished an effective background. The dining room and breakfast room were decorated with yellow tulips and daffodils, and white lilacs and maiden hair ferns. Yellow shades capped the candelabra. The library was pretty with delicate pink roses. The dinner was served at small tables, which were scattered throughout the first floor.

Paying Off the Debt.

A woman's club house has for years been the ambition of the club women of Pittsburgh. More than once a scheme for erecting a woman's building has been suggested, but always dropped as too great an undertaking. The Twentieth Century club comes nearest this ambition of all the clubs, yet it rents its club house in Duquesne way.

The plan followed by the Ladies Literary club of Salt Lake city, Utah, in building its handsome club house, which now brings in a steady income, might be followed in Pittsburgh. Today will be remembered by the club as red letter day in its history, for this afternoon the members of the club who six years ago advanced funds with which to build the new club house, will receive 20 per cent of the amount advanced. When work on the club house was begun the members contributed funds, increased by an amount which the club borrowed from people outside of the club. Now the entire amount borrowed from outsiders has been paid back, with interest, and the payment of the debt to the club members begins today. Consequently, at the close of the regular club meeting, the club meets on Fridays, the treasurer will conduct a regular banking business, reimbursing the members 20 per cent of their loan.

It is said that the largest amount loaned by an individual member was $400, and the smallest $5, the loan amounting in all to $1,475, and this was pretty well distributed among the ladies. This loan of the members was made without interest.

Agitating Vacation Schools.

The Woman's club of Ben Avon held an interesting and largely attended meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. C. Knox, on the Brighton road, Ben Avon. The meeting was known as a lecture afternoon and took the place of the regular weekly meeting, which usually occurs on Tuesday. Mrs. George H. Alexander, president of the club, presided, and Miss Beulah Kennard of Pittsburgh made the principal address, Miss Kennard's subject was the "Vacation School Work," in which the Woman's club of Ben Avon is largely interested, the members contributing to the support of the schools in Pittsburgh. Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon was also present and gave a short talk. Following the talks and a short business session refreshments were served.

On April 18 the members of the club have arranged to give a musical and literary entertainment in the lecture room of the Ben Avon public school, the proceeds of which will be used to further the club's work. Another entertainment for the benefit of the vacation schools will be given early in May.

Women in Civics.

The permanent civic committee of the Allied Women's clubs of Pittsburgh have appointed a street cleaning health committee which is to pay especial attention to the condition of the city streets, and to the collection of garbage. Mrs. Franklin B. Lams, representing the committee, called on Director J. Guy McCandless of the department of public works and discussed the street cleaning question with him. Director McCandless promised the committee that he would assist it in every way possible.

A trip is also to be made to the public safety building to take up the garbage question with Director A. H. Leslie of the department and Superintendent A. J. Pitcairn of the bureau of health. The city garbage collection is done by contract, the Pittsburgh Reduction Company having the contract. The work has never been a success, however, and frequent complaints are made to the bureau.

The Governor Entertains.

HARRISBURG, April 10.—A dinner was given by Gov. and Mrs. Stone at the executive mansion tonight in honor of Adjutant General and Mrs. Corbin of Washington. The guests included Congressman Graham of Allegheny, and members of the governor's cabinet and their ladies. The mansion was very prettily decorated, the prevailing colors being pink and white.

The last dance of the Cricketts took place last evening in the South Highland auditorium.

Among the weddings appointed for yesterday was the marriage of Miss Emma Halsey Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Brown Snyder, and Everett Woodford Jones of Aspinwall, at the home of the bride's parents in Maryland avenue, East End.

THE FOOD OF THE ROMAN SOLDIER

The grand old Roman warriors who won many victories, subsisted chiefly on wheat carried in their knapsacks and parched when needed for use. The healthfulness of wheat as food has been greatly depreciated by modern milling processes that remove the life-sustaining gluten in order to make flour white. Many seek to remedy this evil by eating cracked wheat or mush. In this form the starch is less than half cooked. The result is indigestion, anemia, constipation, nervous prostration, weak muscles, rheumatism and other maladies. For complete nutrition, the whole grain must be eaten. Toasted Wheat Flakes, sweetened with Malt Honey, presents wheat in an entirely new form, each entire kernel being pressed into a thin delicate flake, thoroughly dextrinized, cooked and toasted, making it immediately digestible.

Manager Clarke Shifts His Players

CONROY WILL REPLACE WAGNER AT SHORTSTOP

Carnegie Boy Goes to Center Field and Beaumont Is to Be Benched.

CLARKE MAKES THE SHIFT

New Infielder Has Shown Up So Well in Practice That Pirates' Manager Will Try Him Out—Last Exhibition Game at Hot Springs.

By JAMES M. NELLIS,
Staff Correspondent.

Hot Springs, Ark., April 10.—When the Pirates line up on the field in St. Louis on Thursday next for the opening game of the championship season there will be found a change in the team makeup, and it will not be exactly the same team that won the pennant for Pittsburgh last year.

The change has been decided on by Manager Clarke only after careful thought, and having watched the players closely in their practice work. Conroy will be at short, Wagner in the middle field and Beaumont on the bench as utility outfielder.

It has been noticed that Manager Clarke was not giving Wagner any infield practice and that Conroy has been doing daily duty at short. The work of this young player has been so clean and fast that he became a subject for favorable comment among all the players.

Conroy's Fine Work.

There was no change in his work from day to day, being as steady as a clock and to a great degree sensational. Not only has his fielding been good, but his batting and base running have been very clever. In discussing the change today Manager Clarke said he had only reached a decision after careful consideration and the change is one he thinks will help the team in all departments.

This does not mean that Beaumont is to be released, by any means, but will be held, and the club will have a good utility outfielder in the red-headed boy, as well as a clever utility infielder in Jimmy Burke.

Last Game at Hot Springs.

The Pirates played their final exhibition game at Hot Springs this afternoon, when the regulars lined up against the Yanigans, and Clarke's men got good and even for that defeat of Saturday last by disposing of O'Connor's crew by a score of 12 to 4. The contest was witnessed by a crowd of 500 admirers of the game who enjoyed a rare treat, as the players cut up all sorts of capers and at the same time played good ball.

Deacon Phil was called on to do the pitching for the regulars and Sam Leever was carded to relieve him in the fifth inning, but at the last minute a change was necessary, as "Lefty" Davis' sore knee would not permit him to play, and this forced Leever into the outfield for the Yanigans.

Leever Not an Outfielder.

As a right fielder he was not a howling success and he was frank enough to admit this fact himself. In the second inning he allowed Bransfield's liner to tear between his legs and Kitty got credit for a home run. Lefty Davis was utilized as an umpire and he made a first-class job of it, not a kick being registered against any of his decisions.

The deacon having no twirler to relieve him was forced to pitch the full nine innings, and he acquitted himself nobly. In the early innings he used both speed and curves for the first time this season and was almost invincible, but toward the close of the game he simply lobbed the ball over and the Yanigans were presented with a few hits and runs, just to make them feel good.

Pitchers Hit Hard.

O'Connor's crew had three pitchers on the rubber, Chesbro, Poole and Doheny, taking their turn in the order named, and each one was given a trouncing. The regulars were out with their batting clothes on and would not be denied base hits.

The real sluggers were Wagner, with three hits, a double, a three-bagger and a home run, Bransfield, with two singles and a home run, and Ritchey, with two singles and two two-baggers. Harry Smith caught the full nine innings for the regulars and his work, both behind the bat and with the stick, was all that could be asked.

Smith is rounding into shape nicely and should be in fine trim when he joins the team at St. Louis on opening day. The feature of today's game was the clever infield work of Tommy Leach and Conroy.

Great Infield Playing.

Leach accepted 12 chances without the least sign of an error, while Conroy only made one miserable in the same number of trips. This is rather remarkable fielding when it is considered that the playing field is very rough and hard to judge a ground-hit ball on.

Notes of the Game.

Bransfield's home run in the second inning was a terrific smash to deep right field.

The Pirates leave Hot Springs at 8:50 this morning and will play at Little Rock on Friday and Saturday afternoons.

Wagner's home run in the sixth was a drive so far up the mountain side that Eddie Poole grew tired climbing after the ball. Homus has been hitting at a terrific clip for the past two days.

When Leever appeared at bat in the fifth inning Clarke called out: "Everybody look out and play in," but the schoolmaster fooled him by driving the ball up the mountain side for three bases.

In the second inning Clarke was nearly caught off third by O'Connor, but by skilful dodging managed to avoid being put out. A moment later he tried to steal home, but was nailed at the plate by the leader of the Yanigans.

Then the champions jump on Joe for games on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The champions have behind them a fine record at the Springs, as it is generally declared that they are the most gentlemanly players who have ever trained there.

WILL SELECT THE FIFTH UMPIRE

FIRST TASK OF NATIONAL LEAGUE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Reported the Position May Be Offered to Hardie Henderson, but There Are So Many Applicants the Governing Board May Have Difficulty in Selection.

When the first official meeting of the new executive committee of the National league convenes in New York next week, at the call of Chairman John T. Brush, one of the most important matters that will confront them is the selection of another umpire for the present baseball season.

Speculation is rife among the magnates as to who the fifth holder of the indicator will be but it is stated on the best of authority, the position will be offered to Hardie Henderson. Already there are a number of applications in for the position and the governing board may have a hard time to decide on the fifth man.

At the meeting of the magnates held in New York four umpires were chosen and the fifth position was offered to Tom Lynch, but he refused it. Ban Johnson is reported to have offered Lynch an umpireship in the American, but so far as known he has not yet accepted. It was also rumored in New York that Tim Hurst had been offered a berth by the American league president, but he denied the report.

PITTSBURGHERS ENTERED.

Prominent Local Golfers Will Take Part in Lakewood Tournament Next Week.

Pittsburgh is to be represented in the first big golf tournament of the east. The event at Lakewood, N. J., each year is recognized as the official opening of the heavy metropolitan season and is participated in by all the big cracks of the country. It will open on next Thursday and continue through the week.

Findlay Douglass and Champion W. J. Travis are two of the big guns who are expected to be on hand and Smoky City experts who have so far announced their intention of competing are H. C. Fownes, W. C. Fownes, C. B. Fownes, W. C. Fownes, Jr., and John Moorhead, Jr. This is the first time that the Pittsburgh contingent of the links has taken notice of the big eastern event. It presents the first opportunity since last year's championship for local golfers to surprise the eastern talent.

The Pittsburgh golfers who were at Atlantic City, several of them preparing for the Lakewood event, returned yesterday and report a satisfactory trip in every respect. H. C. Fownes, W. C. Fownes, G. A. Ormiston, J. T. Moore and C. B. Fownes formed the party. C. B. Fownes created a sensation by winning the open handicap sweepstakes there on last Saturday, with both the lowest gross and the lowest net score. He went the 18 holes in 90 strokes, having a handicap eight strokes.

PROVISION MEN MAKE CHARGES

VIOLATION OF LAWS BY WESTERN PACKERS IS ALLEGED.

Interstate Commerce Provision Against Rebates, Local Dealers Assert, Are Ignored and That the Beef Combination Reaps the Benefit.

Pittsburgh provision men assert that the western packers in the beef combination are violating the inter-state commerce laws by demanding and receiving rebates on shipments of all kinds of dressed meats. They complain that the rebate evil is giving the western packers a decided advantage over them in competing for the local trade.

Local dealers declare that they have appealed to the inter-state commerce commission, stating their grievances, but that their appeals have been in vain.

They say that the commission is indifferent to their complaints, informing them that they must employ legal talent to present their grievances. The Pittsburgh dealers say that this would involve an expense of thousands of dollars, and that no one firm can afford the expense.

Co-Operation Their Only Hope.

The only chance of getting a hearing, they assert, is for all the local dealers to combine and employ lawyers to present their case to the inter-state commerce commission.

The effect of the rebate system upon trade and competition was explained yesterday by some of the largest provision men in the city. The western packers are said to have an arrangement with the railway trunk lines whereby they can ship and distribute dressed meats within 50 miles of the point of consignment without extra cost.

For instance, if a carload of meat is shipped to Pittsburgh it can be delivered here or distributed at various points around Pittsburgh, within a radius of 50 miles, without a cent of additional freight charges.

Many Towns Included.

Dressed meats consigned to Pittsburgh can be delivered at any of the following towns and dozens of other points within 50 miles of the city without extra cost to the western shipper: Greensburg, Homestead, Carnegie, McKeesport, Butler, Kittanning, Tarentum, McDonald, Steubenville, East Liverpool, Wellsville, Rochester, Beaver Falls, Sewickley, New Castle, Jeannette, Monongahela City, Sharpsburg, Turtle Creek, Wilmerding and Irwin.

This arrangement gives western firms an immense advantage over the local dealers, who are compelled to pay full freight rates to all points from this center. The Pittsburgh provision men state that rebate privileges which the western houses enjoy enable the latter to sell their product a quarter of cent a pound cheaper, and the local men must meet the rate to get any trade.

A Rebate on the Cars.

The home firms also assert that the western packers obtain an additional rebate on every car that is shipped. The western men rent or own their cars and receive credit for every car shipped over and returned by a certain road. This is said to give the western firms a gain over local shippers of another half a cent or more a pound.

F. L. Elliott, manager for the local branch of the western firm of Nelson Morris & Co., said yesterday that prices of meat would not go below what they are this week. He said that they are bound to go still higher and expects an advance next week, as the receipts at all western stockyards this week have been light. Beef is selling this week wholesale at 10½ cents a pound, and, according to Manager Elliott, will be higher next week.

Pork May Be Higher.

G. H. Garber, treasurer for Rea & Co., one of the largest wholesale provision firms of Pittsburgh, predicted yesterday that pork, which was advanced a half cent a pound this week, will go a cent a pound higher. He says that the advanced cost of live stock to the local pork packers justifies a further increase to retailers, as the profit margins are shorter than they have been for years.

"There is bound to be a boom in pork, as the prices of hogs are higher by a cent a pound than they were last year," said he. "There has been but a slight advance, comparatively, in the cost to the retailer within the past 12 months. Medium hams, which sold last year for, 11¼ cents a pound, are not bringing now more than 12 cents. Breakfast bacon is but ¾ cent a pound higher than it was this time last year, and there has been but a cent increase in the price of side meat. Lard is a cent and a half dearer than last year."

Sees No Cause for Alarm.

Mr. Garber says consumers should not be alarmed by the advance in prices of meats, as the prices this year have not reached the mark where they stood in 1882. Medium hams and breakfast bacon then sold, he stated, a cent a pound higher than they do now, while lard was a cent and a half and side meat two cents above the present market price. In October, 1881, he affirmed, hams sold for 15½ cents, which today sell for 13 cents. The high prices that prevailed in 1881-82 are said to have been due to blizzards which swept over the country that winter and destroyed thousands of head of live stock and which were followed by a terrible drought the next summer, burning the crops and grass used by grazing stock.

The packers say that while prices are not as high as they were in 1882 they will be as high before the present season is over.

To Be Played at East Liverpool.

Manager Fred L. Roberts of the reorganized Duquesne Basketball team, now playing for the local championship, announces that the game with Steubenville will be played at East Liverpool, Saturday, April 26. It is to decide the honors of Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania.

Date Has Been Set.

The prize fight between Hughey McGovern, brother of Terry McGovern, and Frank McCloskey of Pittsburgh will take place here Monday night, April 21. Sam Harris, young McGovern's manager, wired McCloskey's manager yesterday to make all preparations for the affair.

BROKER'S ERROR CAUSES FLURRY IN WALL STREET

Louisville & Nashville Antics Very Mystifying Until They Are Explained.

SOUTHERNS ALSO LIVELY

The Western Crowd, Headed by Gates and Including Some Pittsburghers, Intend to Teach New Yorkers How to Do Business.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 10.—There was a sensational rise in Louisville & Nashville shares at the opening of the market today. They closed last night at 114⅝. The opening sale today was 6,000 shares from 114½ to 115. In a very short time the price shot up to 120, and almost immediately there came a reaction to 116¾.

Wall street was at a loss to understand the sudden advance and the quick decline, and many wild rumors were current as to its cause. After the excitement had passed the explanation was given. A broker is said to have had an order to buy 2,500 shares, and by accident he reversed it and sold 2,500. To execute his order he had then to buy 5,000 shares, and at the moment of beginning to do that he received another order to buy 5,000 more. That gave him 10,000 shares to purchase, and in the course of his operation about 10,000 stop orders for the shorts were reached and the flurry sent a shiver through the street, in memory of the famous corner in Northern Pacific.

Southern Railroad in It.

Southern Railway shares also were a feature of the opening. Large blocks of the common were offered at 35, and that checked the movement.

Many stories were in circulation regarding the southern stocks, particularly Louisville & Nashville. One was that John W. Gates and other western millionaires were buying for control. Another was that the Louisville & Nashville company had sold its recently issued $5,000,000 of stock and forgot that it would require 30 days to list it on the stock exchange, when it would become a delivery. In consequence it was said that there was some little embarrassment in making deliveries. This story was not generally credited.

Another shadowy authority quoted John W. Gates as saying a few days ago: "Keep your eye on Louisville & Nashville. It will change control before long."

Community of Interest Talk.

August Belmont declined to make any comments on the situation other than to intimate that the western speculative interests were responsible for the activity. There was a good deal of talk about a "community of interests" between the Southern Railway and Louisville & Nashville; that interests representing the Southern have been large buyers of Louisville & Nashville; but this also lacked verification.

It was impossible to obtain any explanation of the heavy Southern common purchases. Figuring so closely on the arrival of J. P. Morgan in London an effort was made to connect the two incidents, but was not altogether successful. Any elaborate community of interest scheme, it was generally said, would arouse the antagonism of every state legislature in the south.

Gates Crowd's Manipulations.

Probably the final explanation will be that the "rise" is really a carefully planned stock deal, with the Gates outfit responsible. They have been the active factors in the market for several weeks. It has been their custom to take up one stock or group of stocks at a time. Ten days ago they were urging their friends to buy Colorado Fuel and Iron at 108. Last week they were making speeches on the merits of St. Paul at 172. Now they are concentrating their attention on Louisville & Nashville and Southern.

Gossip credits them with carrying an enormous line of stocks. They are said to be ambitious to build up the "largest business" in Wall street for a certain wire house, and incidentally show Wall street how business ought to be transacted. Old brokers say there are certain well established rules of the brokerage trade that cannot be ignored. If they are ignored he who runs may read the consequences.

Pittsburghers With Gates.

With Mr. Gates there have been supposed to be some of his old associates in the American Steel and Wire Company, several Pittsburgh men. There also were reports that the Moore brothers were Mr. Gates' close adherents, but from excellent authority it was learned today that the Moores had nothing to do with the boom in Louisville & Nashville and Southern Railway.

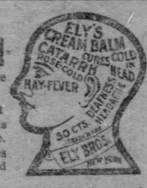
Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages there should be cleanliness.

Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents by mail.

ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren Street, New York.



PERUNA Cures CATARRH OF HEAD, THROAT, LUNGS, STOMACH, KIDNEYS & BLADDER FEMALE ORGANS.

R·I·PANS

I have used Ripans Tabules for the past six months with wonderful benefit. I can now eat a hearty meal and enjoy it, whereas before I could hardly keep the lightest food on my stomach.

At Druggists.

The Five-Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion.

The Family Bottle, 60c, contains a supply for a year.

ADVANCE in Basket Shares

Announcement is hereby made that on THURSDAY, APRIL 24th, or before, shares of the capital stock of the Mergenthaler-Horton Basket Machine Co. will be advanced in price from

50c a Share to 60c a Share

(Par Value $1.00, Full-Paid and Non-Assessable.)

No subscription is accepted for less than 50 shares, and the right is reserved to reject any subscription.

It had not been expected that the 50 cent allotment of these shares would be closed before May 1st, but owing to developments which push forward the plans of the Company, it is definitely decided to advance the price of shares as soon as proper notice can be given.

The popular movement in these shares clearly demonstrates approval of the Company's methods and general recognition of enduring strength in the proposition.

The Salient features are:

Ownership and control of every patent on automatic basket-making machines.

Control of the basket industry, which uses up Two Billions of baskets each year, runs over Eleven Millions of Dollars, and, with the help of these machines, will make a profit of over $4,000,000 annually.

Those who are ready to subscribe to these shares and have been neglecting to do so are advised to attend to the matter at once, as further advances will follow in quick succession.

Checks, Drafts or money orders should be drawn to order of CHARLES R. BARLOW, Treasurer.

The Office of the Mergenthaler-Horton Basket Machine Company is at 1010 Park Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

ALL CONSUMERS OF IRON SHOULD LOOK FAR AHEAD

Prospects Are the Entire Pig Output of This Year Soon Will Be Contracted For.

FAMINE SHUTS FURNACES

Closing Will Not Last Long, but It Comes at an Embarrassing Time. The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company Reorganized.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 10.—It is now a question of only a short time—of only a few weeks perhaps—until practically the entire pig iron production for the current year will have been put under contract. Both producers and consumers are now preparing to follow the example set in the recent purchase of 300,000 tons of pig iron by the United States Steel Corporation from the Bessemer association, a contract that provides for delivery during the first two quarters of next year. All the pig iron producers are opening their books for next year, and by the end of next month perhaps practically all contracts will call for delivery in 1903.

Furnacemen no doubt will hold a small percentage of possible production in reserve so that they may be able to take advantage of premiums for immediate delivery, but this percentage will be insignificant. Indeed, the demand for spot iron even now is so much greater than the supply that a number of foundries are badly embarrassed. Their anxiety may be guessed from the fact that some of them have even gone to the length of sending representatives to the furnaces to keep watch on shipments in order to prevent discrimination in deliveries.

Foreign Prices Too High.

No important foundries have been closed permanently, but a great many of them are able to operate only intermittently, owing to their inability to get iron. There is no evidence, however, of large imports. The difficulty is that foreign prices are too high to leave any margin of profits on imports. One large house is said to have abandoned negotiations for big shipments of No. 3 Scotch iron, for the reason that a price could not be agreed upon at which the product could compete in this market with American iron.

Consumers still insist that the southern men are not selling iron at the nominal price of $12 a ton that they themselves established some time ago. No contract for southern iron has recently been closed for less than $14 a ton.

Iron Scarcity Closes Furnaces.

Rogers, Brown & Co., in their weekly review of the pig iron situation, say:

"For the first time in the memory of the present generation of iron melters, foundries by the score are closed for want of pig iron. This is in most cases a local situation, but it checks the out-turn of finished work at a time when it is most urgently needed. The short supply is not due to delay in the placing of orders, for most consumers have covered their wants pretty fully by contracts. It is due to the inability of the furnaces to make the iron as fast as needed.

"There is no very considerable curtailment of output of pig iron because of trouble in assembling materials, as was the case in January, February and March. There can be but slight increase as the years wear on, for nearly the whole available capacity of the country is active. Relief, therefore, must come from slackening demand or from importations. Of the slackening demand, however, there are so far no signs. On the contrary, fresh work is coming out constantly, and the last week has brought out new inquiries for pig iron in round lots for summer deliveries, which could not be met north or south.

"Prices undergo no change. For early deliveries there is no iron. For late deliveries makers show no desire to exact high figures. The very large purchase of Bessemer by the United States Steel Corporation, running to April, 1903, at $16 50 at valley furnaces, if correctly reported, tells both of moderation of views as to prices and of the necessity of a long look ahead if supply or materials is to be assured. There is, quite naturally, a crop of new furnace enterprises north and south, and if half of them are carried out there will be iron enough for all, and doubtless, low enough for all, before the end of 1903.

New Pittsburgh Guarantee Co.

There was incorporated in New Jersey today the Fidelity Audit and Guarantee Company of Pittsburgh, with a capital of $50,000. The incorporators are Walton Woolsey, J. Henry Bernard and Wilfred B. Wolcott, all of whom give their address as Camden, N. J.

Marconi Company Reorganized.

The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of America was formally launched today by the filing of incorporation papers under the laws of New Jersey. The charter of the new company is an amended charter of the old Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of America, which was incorporated in New Jersey in November, 1899, with a capital stock of $10,000,000, of which $5,000,000 was common and a similar amount 8 per cent noncumulative preferred.

It was said today that it was unlikely that a single director of the old company would be represented on the board of the new company. The directors of the old company are G. Marconi, I. L. Rice, August Belmont, Robert Goodboy and C. A. Griscom.

Reduction of Capital.

E. Rollins Morse, banker and broker, is the leading spirit in the new enterprise. When seen today he declared that he would not be in a position to give a detailed statement concerning the plans and purposes of the company until the first of next week.

However, he went so far as to say that the capital stock of the company would be $6,650,000, as compared with the $10,000,000 capitalization of the old company, very few of the shares of which have been issued. The new stock will be all of one class, and part will be offered to the public under its par value of $100 a share.

"Within the past 24 hours," said Mr. Morse, "we have authorized the construction of a station at Montauk point. Plans also are being prepared for the erection of other stations at points along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. We probably will establish more stations along the Pacific than the Atlantic, as we believe they will be of more service to shipping and commerce there. Many of the directors of the new company have been selected, but it will be several days before the officers or board of directors are formally elected."

E. W. HARDEN.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, April 10.—Mining men at Cripple Creek now believe John Hays Hammond was right in his depressing conclusions concerning Stratton's Independence, which is operated by the Venture Corporation of London. Recently the net profit a ton on the crude ore mined has been only $1 and $2. The ore averages from $8 to $10 a ton as compared with $32 and $52 during Stratton's ownership. It is conceded that the high-grade ores have been cleaned out to make big dividends, and that the Independence is no longer in shape for juggling on the London market.

Shipments are coming regularly from the Cortland near Gunnison, Col., the ore averaging from $70 to $80 a ton. Ore assaying from $100 to $300 gold and 10 ounces silver has been struck on the Yankee Girl mine at Ouray City, which is owned by the Pittsburgh-Gunnison company.

Fifteen feet of ledge matter has been opened in the Rob Roy, Nedton district, Utah. It all carries gold values with streaks of quartz that run up to $300 a ton. At a depth of 100 feet the shaft on the Robson shows 16 inches of silver-lead ore carrying some copper.

Late advices from Nome say that a vein of willemite carrying 72 per cent zinc has been discovered on Anvil creek, near Cape Nome country. The width of the ledge is 40 feet and there are 6½ feet of this ore between walls.

A correspondent writing from Thunder mountain, the new gold district in Idaho, says the camp is in such keen demand that Boise and Salt Lake promoters are paying spot cash for prospects and putting down from $1,000 to $8,000 cash on larger properties for 30 and 60 day options. The rush to the camp is now on in earnest and lively times are anticipated.

The Granby smelter at Grand Forks, B. C., has blown in its fourth furnace, and now has a daily capacity of 1,000 tons.

The tunnel in the Denver group at Gilbert, Ariz., has been driven 20 feet in solid sulphurets containing 24 per cent copper and $2 50 gold.

A 14-foot ledge, assaying $25 gold a ton, has been struck on the Klondike and Ontario in Paradise valley, San Bernardino, Cal.

The Keystone Mining Company of Williamsport, Pa., has purchased a number of mining properties in the Shakespeare district, New Mexico, and capitalized them for $1,200,000.

A syndicate of San Francisco capitalists is negotiating for the purchase of the Ibarra mines near Calmalli, Lower California. The price asked is $350,000.

The Metal Market.

In the local market for tin there was a slow trade with quoted values nominally no less nominal. Spot closed at $27 40@27 75. At London prices were 10s lower, which closed spot at £124 15s and futures at £125 5s. Copper was quiet and easy but unchanged at New York with Lake Superior quoted at 12@12¼c; electrolytic at 12¼c and casting at 12c. London was 2s 6d lower, with spot at £53 2s 6d and futures at £55 5s. Lead was quiet but steady and unchanged at home and abroad. London closed at £11 8s 9d and New York at 4¼c. Spelter ruled steady at New York at $4 45, but London was 1s 3d lower at £17 15s. The New York market for iron was steady, with pig iron warrants still nominal: No. 1 foundry northern, quoted at $19 00@20 00; No. 2 foundry northern, $18 00@19 00; No. 1 foundry southern, $17 50@18 00; No. 2 foundry southern, $17 00@18 00. At Glasgow warrants were unchanged at 53s 5d and at Middlesboro they were 3d higher, at 47s 6d.

BUYERS TURN SELLERS AND A SLUMP ENSUES

Louisville & Nashville Sells Up to 120, but Fails to Hold the Place.

FLURRY IN MONEY RATES

Short Interest Supposed to Have Received Severe Squeezing—General List Suffers Considerably Because of Feverish Desire to Close Deals.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 10.—There was a very wild market for Louisville & Nashville today and the ominous jumps made by the price in its convulsive advance to 120 this morning aroused unpleasant memories of May 9 last year, when Northern Pacific was cornered, precipitating the severest panic in the history of the stock exchange. Many of the active operators in Louisville & Nashville on the rise have fostered the supposition that a distressed short interest was aimed at by the campaign. The disposition to buy stocks was suddenly cooled and a preference for the selling side developed. The disposition to sell was increased by another flurry in the money market during the afternoon and the selling movement spread throughout the list, carrying prices of the active stocks very generally between 1 and 2 points under last night.

Losses Were General.

Stocks which had been conspicuous for strength, notably Southern Railway and Missouri Pacific, did not escape damage to this extent. In some cases the losses considerably exceeded these limits. Louisville alone of the prominent stocks continued to show feverish strength, rebounding from each successive reaction. There was some covering by professional shorts before the close, but the selling was active at the end and the closing was irregular and not far from the lowest. The action of Louisville seemed to indicate that a short interest in the stock was feeling considerable distress to maintain its position.

The Cause of the Trouble.

The Wall street supposition is plausible that the disposition of the $5,000,000 new stock authorized involved a short position in the market, technically necessitating the borrowing of the stock sold until the stock exchange authorities admit the new stock to the list. Reports of buying for control by competing companies or of intended consolidations have all met with official denials. As a tactical speculative measure for inciting speculation elsewhere in the market the wild movement in Louisville is demonstrably a failure, during the first hour today over one-quarter of the total capital stock of the company changed hands, and dealings for the day amounted to over half the capitalization. Within three days the number of shares sold has been many thousand in excess of the total capitalization of the company.

The highly speculative character of the movement is clear. The dealings in Southern railway continued very large today, in accordance with the hypothesis of a contest for control between the two companies, but it made no great progress upward and shared in the late reaction. The rise in Missouri Pacific was ascribed to pool operations, based on the evident working out of extensions for the Gould system.

The sensitive condition of the market was emphasized by today's announcements of a huge combination in the hardware trade, the undertaking by American capital to finance the London traction improvement and the purchase by New York capitalists of the Choctaw, Oklahoma & Gulf railway, all promising syndicate requirements for credits.

More Borrowing Abroad.

Foreign exchange declined further, indicating further borrowing of foreign capital, and obviating the chance of further immediate gold exports. Probably some of the late selling was due to a desire to close up accounts in expectation of the government crop report after the closing.

The bond market yielded to realizing in sympathy with stocks, and became irregular after notable strength in the recently active speculative issues. Total sales, par value, $4,975,000. United States 5s advanced ½ per cent in the last call.

Bearish Conditions in Wheat Market

GRAIN TRADERS DOUBTFUL ABOUT CROP PROSPECTS

Wheat and Oats Turn Downward, but Corn Records a Small Advance.

GOOD GROWING WEATHER

It Seemed to Be the Most Influential Factor in the Market—Cables Were Lower, but Receipts Continue Very Light.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, April 10.—Grain speculation hung fire today while traders waited for the government crop report and tried to discount it. Conditions in wheat favored bears, but corn more than made up losses it met with early in sympathy with wheat. At the close May wheat was ⅝@¾c lower. May corn ⅛@¼c up and May oats ¾c down. Provisions closed 5@7½c to 10c higher.

Everything early in wheat was bearish. Cables were lower, clearances small, the weather warmer and the cash situation poor. Added to these was the opinion of many that the government report of the April crop condition would be bearish also. Receipts, while still small, were not so conspicuously light as yesterday.

Corn Steadies the Market.

Under these influences May opened ⅛@⅜c to ⅝@⅞c lower at 72@71⅞, and gradually worked down to 71¾c. The crowd showed little inclination to do anything one way or another. There was some fair early buying, but it had only a temporary effect. Later there were some bad reports from the seaboard. Corn strength, which developed later, aided in steadying the market. May rallied to 72c, but closed weak, ⅜@½c lower, at 71¾c. Local receipts were 27 cars, none of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 157 cars, making a total for the three points of 164, against 224 last week and 245 a year ago. Primary receipts were 262,000 bushels, compared to 416,000 bushels a year ago. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour equaled 378,000 bushels, against 702,000 bushels last year. The seaboard reported 22 loads taken for export.

Southwest Was Bullish.

Corn had the same sort of depressing news to start with as did wheat, but the southwestern cash markets overcame the bearish influences and a net gain was recorded. Cables were lower, the weather was warmer and the bulls early seemed indisposed to support the market. St. Louis and the southwest were bullish and reported liberal covering of short accounts. Commission houses took most of the offerings, much of it for the southwest. The movement of corn was still small. Late in the day large local interests came into the market and bid prices up. Foreign bids had improved and New York reported cash sales for Australian shipment. May slumped early to 58¼@58⅜c, but sold back to 59¼c and closed firm ⅛@¼c up at 59@59⅛c. Receipts were 30 cars.

Oats were dull and weak. Fair selling on crop reports of good seeding conditions and the early corn weakness easily depressed prices. May was much weaker than the other options. Advices of better country movement hurt prices, but a late report of good cash sales brought a partial rally. May sold down to 41⅝c and closed ⅝c lower at 41⅜c. Receipts were 124 cars.

Provisions were active for a short time, but lapsed into dullness with the general wait for the government report. Hogs advanced in price and packers supported lard and ribs. There was a fair cash demand for the former. Scattered selling for the outside depressed values for a time, but late buying sent them up again and brought a firm close all along the list. May pork closed 10c up at $16 60, May lard 5@7½c higher at $9 65@9 67½, and May ribs 5@7½c higher at $8 95@8 97½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat 15 cars, corn 60 cars, oats, 85 cars, hogs 18,000 head.

A Question of Ownership

OWNERSHIP OF POINT PROPERTY IS IN DISPUTE

New Phase Put on the Proceedings to Quash City Ordinances.

THE DEFENDANTS ANSWER

They Allege the Daughters of the American Revolution Were Granted Only a Qualified Interest in Block House Site.

Answers were filed yesterday in common pleas court No. 2 to the petitions of the Daughters of the American Revolution for an order quashing the ordinances for the vacation of Point alley and Fort street. A new phase is put on the proceedings, as it is claimed the petitioner is the owner of the property surrounding the block house, it being claimed that the Daughters of the American Revolution was granted merely a qualified interest in it, "for the purpose of maintaining, preserving and keeping in good condition said block house."

It is alleged the plot referred to in the petition does not abut on Point alley and that the petitioner has a 20-foot entrance from Penn avenue; also that at the time the petitioner was given possession of the property it was agreed between the grantor and grantee that Fort street and Point alley should be vacated whenever the grantor saw fit. It is alleged the petitions for the vacations were signed by the majority, and in conclusion it is alleged that the court has no jurisdiction.

An answer was filed in the equity suit, which covers the same ground. The jurisdiction of the court in this case is denied.

TWO DIVORCES REFUSED.

Mrs. Hunter, Who Charged Husband With Substituting Bricks for Corpses, Lacked Evidence.

In common pleas court No. 1 yesterday Mrs. Katherine M. Merriman was refused a decree in divorce from her husband, William B. Merriman, by Judge E. H. Stowe. Mrs. Merriman is 60 years of age and her husband is 64, and the couple were married on December 27, 1860. They separated in February, 1898, and she wanted a divorce on the grounds of desertion and inhdelity.

The application filed by Mrs. Ida B. Hunter for a divorce from her husband, Thomas J. Hunter, on the grounds of cruelty and abuse, was refused. Mr

SHARP BREAKS OCCURRED IN THE ELECTRICS

The Firsts Lost $2.50 and the Seconds $3 a Share in a Short Time.

SWITCH COMMON ALSO LOST

Westinghouse Air-brake Rallied $1 to $179 — Window Glass Was Firmer and Higher—Crucible Steel Steady—U. S. Steels Lower.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was not so active as that of the day before, but was almost as sensational. The sensations were due principally to the sudden and sharp breaks in Westinghouse Electric issues, both of which pattered considerably in the space of a few moments. Switch & Signal common also declined in sympathy. Beyond some active trading in American Window Glass common and some large selling of Pittsburgh Coal common the remainder of the list was almost devoid of noteworthy features and there was no news worthy of dependence to account for the movements. The action of Westinghouse Electrics suggests either the culmination of a well advertised bull movement or of profit taking, and the natural reaction from so sudden an upward shoot. The firsts opened yesterday at 110 and went off ½ and recovered it again. Then they broke $1 and at the close dropped to 112½ on sales of only 350 shares. The seconds, which had sales of almost 2,500 shares, opened at 118, dropped ½ and then rallied $2 to 114½, the highest of the day. Until near the close they fluctuated between 110¾ and 112, and finally tumbled $3 to 109, where they closed at the lowest of the session. There was absolutely no news. New York was somewhat disturbed over an alleged corner in Louisville & Nashville railroad and the condition of the money market, and these things may have affected the electrics. Again there were all kinds of rumored denials going of any combinations, or forthcoming surprises in the shape of stock dividends, etc., or of Mr. Westinghouse's having lost control, until there were serious doubts as to whether anything at all was "up" except the price. Then the idea that the whole advance was the culmination of a well advertised bull movement or of profit taking, and the natural reaction from so sudden an upward shoot. The firsts opened yesterday at 110 and went off ½ and recovered it again. Then they broke $1 and at the close dropped to 112½ on sales of only 350 shares. PROTECTION IS NO FETISH, SAYS GEN. GROSVENOR

He Declares the Time Will Soon Come When Tariff Must Be Revised.

BEET SUGAR MEN WARNED

Are Told if They Persist in Fighting Reciprocity They May Force Premature Revision—Party Adheres to Principles, Not to Schedules.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., April 10.—The agitation within the Republican party for revision of some of the highly-protective schedules of the existing tariff law is gaining ground every day. Some significant developments in this direction are expected in the near future, and it is said the house will be asked to make a declaration of policy along the line of tariff revision before this session comes to an end.

The speech which Gen. Grosvenor delivered in the house this afternoon on the Cuban reciprocity bill was a significant indication of the trend of sentiment in this direction. Gen. Grosvenor declared that the time is coming soon, though not yet arrived, when there will be a demand which cannot be refused for changes of the tariff.

Protection No Fetish.

He said that the Republican party will revise the tariff along the lines of Republicanism; that he would yield to no man in his devotion to the principles of protection, but that protection is not a fetish which is never to be touched.

He answered the critics who have charged him with inconsistency by saying reciprocity is sound Republican doctrine. He warned the young Republicans about him that if they believe the present tariff schedules are to be forever defended they had as well retire to private life. The Republican party, he announced, must not chain itself to tariff schedules.

He declared that the Republican party dared not in 1896 pledge itself to the re-enactment of the McKinley bill. It was not a question of schedules, but of the protective principle.

Warning to the Beet Sugar Men.

Yet he warned his Republican colleagues who are opposing the present bill and who propose to overturn the rulings of the chair to accomplish its defeat that they might plunge the whole country into a "premature agitation for a revision of the tariff."

With some feeling Mr. Grosvenor answered the charges of inconsistency brought against himself. He called attention to the remarks on reciprocity made by President Roosevelt at Charleston yesterday, which he described as the "best speech the president ever made," and humorously remarked that he wondered at the temerity of the president in making such statements while Republicans in the house are denouncing such sentiments.

Blaine and McKinley.

He told some interesting history of the controversy between Blaine and McKinley over the free admission of sugar in the McKinley bill. Blaine desiring to use the tariff on sugar as a means of promoting reciprocity. McKinley, he said, was also a disciple of reciprocity at that time, but did not agree with Blaine upon the method of protecting sugar, and Mr. Grosvenor said he had himself been present at what might almost be described as an "acrimonious discussion" in the state department between McKinley and Blaine.

Mr. Payne, the majority leader, attempted to secure an agreement to close general debate on the bill next Monday, but Mr. Tawney of Minnesota demanded the "regular order."

PAYNE'S FIRST ASSISTANT.

Robert J. Wynne, a Pennsylvania Correspondent, to Succeed W. M. Johnson, Resigned.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10.—(Special.)—Robert J. Wynne, Washington correspondent of the New York Press, will be appointed first assistant postmaster general. Mr. Wynne is a Pennsylvanian, a stanch friend of Senator Quay, a Republican and president of the Gridiron club, which honor was caused by the resignation of W. M. Johnson of New Jersey. Joseph H. Manley of Maine and Harry C. New of Indiana declined the appointment. The salary is $4,500.

Representative Jack has recommended the appointment of the following postmasters in his district: J. R. Wright, at Tyrra, Armstrong county, and W. B. Sutter at Lindsey, Jefferson county.

The following West Virginia postmasters were appointed today: Bayard, Grant county, J. A. Kemble; Falls, Grant county, J. S. Tucker; Jasson, Barbour county, G. R. Coffman; Lloyd, Randolph county, F. A. Schuyler; Lund, Kanawha county, G. H. Smith; Rockview, Wyoming county, M. J. Lusk.

The McKeesport postmastership question is already a burning issue, although the incumbent's term will not expire till February. Representative Acheson has recommended the reappointment of Postmaster Davidson, but the friends of W. V. Campbell, who is an aspirant, are putting up a stiff fight.

An order has been issued by the post-office department forbidding the use of the mails to the People's Supply House, Chicago, for fraudulent use of the mails. The scheme of this concern was to send circulars through the mails offering employment on a commission basis to all who applied. Persons answering were informed that they must send 50 cents for further information.

The senate today confirmed these nominations of postmasters:

Pennsylvania—E. Hugh Baldwin, Austin; W. H. Hamilton, Chester; C. Sutton, McKees Rocks; J. R. Porter, New Wilmington; R. J. Mott, Port Allegany; William L. Hunter, Turtle Creek; J. Stewart Greene, Verona; Frank Verona; F. B. Cyphers, East Pittsburgh; G. P. Washburn, Wyncote; J. W. Jones, Bangor; C. C. Gallup, Smethport; J. Bercher, Mount Carmel; John Reed, Mount Union; S. C. Hunter, Belmont; T. C. Hill, Shickshinny; G. A. Jacobson, Tyrone; W. J. Peck, Pittston; T. C. Manger, Forest City; C. Seger, Emlenton; R. C. Davis, Freeland; F. A. Matheson, Sharpsville; G. W. Schmeiser, Pine Grove; D. M. McQuown, Punxsutawney; R. A. F. Lee, Greensburg; D. Graves, Brockwayville; A. B. Clark, Hastings.

Representative Acheson has recommended the appointment of Donley White as postmaster at Hero, Fayette county. New rural mail delivery routes have been established as follows: From Union City, Erie county, Pa., one carrier, area covered 14 square miles, population served 461; from Belfry, Washington county, Ohio, one carrier, area covered 24 square miles, population served 540.

IMPORTANT CHANGES IN B. & O. SCHEDULE

TIME-CARD MEETINGS ENDED HERE YESTERDAY

Trains 3 and 4 Restored to Akron Run—No. 10 to Leave Earlier. Changes Effective May 18.

Several important changes in the Baltimore & Ohio passenger schedule will be made at the spring change of time as the result of the series of meetings. These meetings ended yesterday, when the passenger and transportation officials met jointly at the Monongahela house. The first of the series was held at the Hotel Lincoln Monday by the passenger officials. Others were held Tuesday and Wednesday at Chicago and everything was in shape for final action yesterday. The changes will be effective at midnight Sunday, May 18.

Locally the most important change is in the restoration of trains 3 and 4 of the old Pittsburgh & Western to the former run between Allegheny and Akron. Some time ago these trains were put between Allegheny and Painesville, leaving the main line at De Forest Junction. As the result of the abolition of trains 9 and 10 between Pittsburgh and Cleveland the former schedule is now restored. Painesville, however, is given good connections with these trains. At Akron trains 3 and 4 will now connect with the Cleveland Terminal and Valley for both Cleveland and Canton.

Train 3 leaves Allegheny at 8 a. m., city time. It will make an easy connection with train 47 from the east, which will arrive at 7 a. m., instead of 6:10 as at present. Train 4, eastbound, will arrive at Allegheny at 6 p. m., so that half an hour will be available for connecting with the Duquesne limited, No. 12, leaving for the east at 6:30 from the Pittsburg station.

The time of train 10, which now leaves Pittsburgh at 9:45 p. m., will be changed to 9 p. m., allowing more time for the run. No new trains will be put on. Several less important changes were postponed for later consideration.

Those present at the meeting yesterday included almost the full roster of officials of the passenger and transportation departments. The transportation officials present were General Manager G. L. Potter, General Superintendent of Transportation J. C. Stuart, Baltimore General Superintendent T. Fitzgerald, Baltimore; General Superintendent W. R. Woodford, Pittsburgh; Superintendent J. Pemberton Hutchinson, Pittsburgh; J. E. Irwin, Connellsville; H. O. Dunkle, New Castle; J. T. Johnson, Cleveland; D. D. Carothers, Chicago; F. A. Husted, Grafton; F. C. Batchelder, Newark; F. E. Blaser, Parkersburg; J. F. Spurrier, Washington; U. B. Williams, Toledo; J. C. Prince, Wilchester; C. F. Bent, Philadelphia; and Assistant Superintendent C. W. Galloway, Cumberland.

From the passenger department those present were Manager Passenger Traffic D. B. Martin, Baltimore; General Passenger Agent B. N. Austin, Chicago; General Passenger Agent O. P. McCarty, Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern, Cincinnati; General Passenger Agent C. W. Bassett, Pittsburgh & Western lines, Pittsburgh; Traffic Manager J. E. Galbraith, Cleveland Terminal & Valley, Cleveland; General Passenger Agent M. G. Cgrrel, Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling, Cleveland; W. E. Lowes of the general passenger department, Baltimore; Division Agent E. D. Smith, Pittsburgh, and Traveling Passenger Agent A. J. Smith, Ohio river division, Parkersburg.

The meeting adjourned late yesterday evening and the passenger men left for their respective headquarters. The transportation men will remain in the city for another meeting today, at which other subjects will be discussed.

New Stations for the Lake Erie.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie is now taking bids for the erection of handsome new passenger stations at Monongahela City and New Haven, on the P., McK. & Y. division. These will be thoroughly modern depots of one story each of frame construction and of size ample to accommodate the growing business of the line. The cost of each will be between $4,000 and $5,000. The award of the contracts will be made in a short while and work will be started as soon thereafter as practicable and hurried to completion.

The new station for the passenger station to be built at Brownsville, the terminus of the new southerly extension of the road, were prepared in Philadelphia. The new station will be occupied jointly by the Pennsylvania and the Lake Erie, and also will be of thoroughly modern construction.

Traffic Arrangement Works Well.

The new arrangement by which the Erie and Lake Erie handle the business of the Baltimore & Ohio from Cleveland to Chicago is found to work satisfactorily. The transfer across the Smithfield street bridge from one station to the other is provided for by the tickets. While it would be possible to continue this connection with a through cattern car from Cleveland connecting with the Baltimore & Ohio at Dewey station when business to Washington over the Baltimore & Ohio grows brisk again next winter, it is not thought this will be done. The line of the Baltimore & Ohio between this city and Cleveland will then be in much better shape than it is now, with all the improvement work in progress, and the restoration of its Cleveland trains is to be expected.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The Billings & Northern Railroad Company has been incorporated in Montana to serve as the long-discussed connection between the Burlington, Great Northern and Northern Pacific, all Hill lines.

The Rock Island has refused flatly to have any further connection with the Western Passenger association, advice from its legal department being the reason assigned. It also refuses to promise a peaceful policy.

Col. William P. Porter of Rowlandsville, Md., has taken charge of the construction of the new line of the West Virginia Central by which it will link up with the Little Kanawha. Col. Porter has had charge of the construction work of the road since 1880.

PITTSBURGH & WESTERN ALSO MEETS LOW RATES

Another Youngstown-New Castle Line Joins in the Competition With Electric Roads.

The Pittsburgh & Western has quietly met the rates made by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie between Youngstown and New Castle. The Lake Erie rates were made on account of the competition of the recently completed trolley lines connecting the business centers of the Mahoning and Shenango valleys. These rates have already been published in The Gazette. They amount practically to cutting the former rates in two.

The rate of the Pittsburgh & Western was made unostentatiously, although that road has always carried a good proportion of the business between the two towns. This leaves the situation such that the Pennsylvania is now the only line in the section charging the regular rates. Its intentions in the matter have not yet been announced in any way. The Pennsylvania usually takes very good care of its business, and unless some other plan is under contemplation, it may be accepted that it will soon make corresponding rates.

Meanwhile, it is announced by General Passenger Agent L. A. Robison of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie that the low rates on that road have had the effect of bringing back to that line a large proportion of the most desirable business which the electric line was cutting into heavily before the low rates were made. That the same effect will be had with the Pittsburgh & Western is not to be doubted, although the road has lost one train each way formerly used in this business by the removal of the Cleveland-Pittsburgh trains 9 and 10. The better time made by the steam road, from 30 to 50 minutes, is their strong card in the fight for business.

THE CURFEW LAW IS DEMANDED BY CHURCH WOMEN

Presbyterian Missionary Society Advocates Watchful Care of Children.

THE ACTION UNANIMOUS

At the Afternoon Session It Was Decided That the Large Meetings of the Annual Conference for 1903 Will Be Held in First Church.

Allegheny City will have reform in first-class style, if the wishes of the Women's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church are respected. Yesterday afternoon every delegate in attendance at the all-day session of the society, held in the Eleventh United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, voted for and commended a proposition for the re-establishment of the "blue-law system" and that reform mirror known as "curfew." The women not only applauded the proposition as introduced by Mrs. W. F. Price but unanimously voted in favor of giving every help in their power for the establishment of curfew and the reviving of the "blue laws." Mrs. Price presented a subtle argument in favor of her resolution.

"Allegheny," she said, "has need of the curfew law. Every child under 16 years should be under the blanket after 9 o'clock. This could be effected by having a curfew bell placed in a conspicuous portion of the city to be rung exactly at 9 o'clock. This would be a signal for the children to retire. We can get this by demanding a revival of the 'blue law,' which orders the ringing of curfew. St. Louis and Titusville have such a system and accomplish much good."

Mrs. J. Leitch supported Mrs. Price's resolution. A motion was later passed giving the support of the society in any attempt to revive this system. The morning session was given largely to routine work. Mrs. J. W. Witherspoon presided in the morning and Mrs. H. C. Swearingen in the afternoon.

The Afternoon Session.

At the afternoon session it was necessary to resort to a standing vote to determine where the 1903 annual conferences are to be held. Objections were made to the First church of Allegheny on account of the acoustic properties. The large meeting, however, will be held in the First church and the smaller ones in the Eighth church. Addresses were made by Mrs. D. T. Reed, Mrs. Elizabeth Wishart and others. The balloting for officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. R. G. Miller; first vice president, Mrs. G. W. MacDonald; second vice president, Mrs. A. H. Calvert; recording secretary, Miss Jennie B. Wallace; corresponding secretary, Miss Eliza McHendry; treasurer, Mrs. George M. Paden; secretary of junior work, Miss Iantha May Monroe; literature secretary, Miss L. L. McClelland; thankoffering secretary, Miss Anna N. Webb. The evening session closed with special services.

MRS. M'KINLEY'S PENSION.

The Bill Introduced by Congressman Tayler is Reported—Commissioner Evans Overruled.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10.—Representative Sulloway, chairman of the house committee on invalid pensions, today submitted a favorable report on the bill by Representative Tayler of Ohio to pension Mrs. Ida McKinley at the rate of $5,000 a year.

The interior department, on appeal from the judgment of Pension Commissioner Evans, has reversed his decision and holds that a soldier can recover the $30 a month pension under the act of March 3, 1883, from date of pension claim for the period of proved second grade disability, even though such period be temporary. Heretofore this act, providing second grade pensions of $30 a month, was held to apply only to permanent disability.

The following pensions were granted today:

Pennsylvania—Joseph M. Dewemey, New Brighton, $6; Henry Baring, Pittsburgh, $6; John D. Sloan, Bradford, $8; George Heber, Huntingdon, $8; Peter Adley, Harrisburg, $12; Alexander C.
